Block artificial turf field???

Residents file appeal with DEP

By Amanda Geldhof

WILMINGTON - A group of 10 residents filed an appeal with the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) regarding the turf field at the new Wilmington High School on February 29, 2012.

The appeal was submitted by Suzanne Sullivan and Martha Stevenson of 10 Resident Group, Co-Chairs of Headwaters Stream Team. According to the appeal, the new turf field would not improve existing conditions, a requirement of the Code of Massachusetts Regulations regarding wetlands to redevelop a previously developed riverfront area.

It also states that the Town's claims of area improvement are false, claims a lack of proper documentation from the

Driver crashes into Wildwood Cemetery

By Amanda Geldhof

WILMINGTON - An allegedly intoxicated Wilmington resident crashed her vehicle into the cement guard poles at the South entrance of the Wildwood Cemetery at approximately 12:30 a.m. on Friday morning.

According to the Wilmington Police Department, Marjorie Taylor of 53 Garden Avenue will face four charges: OUI liquor, reckless operation of a motor vehicle, marked lanes violation and damage of property over $250.

Lieutenant Joseph Desmond of the Wilmington Police Department said although they have not determined the total cost of damage to Town property, it is more than $250 worth of damage making the last charge Taylor will face a felony charge.

Desmond said Taylor was intoxicated and first crashed her 2012 Ford Edge vehicle into the steel and cement guard-rail and then into both cement pillars lining the South entrance of the cemetery. Taylor sustained injuries in the accident

Palermo a finalist for scholarship

Inspired by others, WHS senior becomes an inspiration

By Dana Burnham

WILMINGTON - When Wilmington High School senior Matthew Palermo received mail this January from Coca Cola, he initially wondered why. Turns out it was a notification of his semifinalist status for a $10,000 or $20,000 scholarship from the company's Scholar Foundation. Having initially applied in November, Matthew says "I forgot about the scholarship until I found out I was a semi-finalist!"

Becoming a semi-finalist meant that Matt then had to submit a lengthy essay on what he felt set him apart from other applicants, and three short essays on his community service, his family background, and someone who inspired him. For his long essay topic, he wrote about his drive to volunteer (Matt is actively involved with Local Heroes for one) and his pursuit of a military career, a long-held goal. For his short essay on someone inspiring, Matt wrote about his cousin Dylan, whose positive attitude during a difficult recovery from a car accident almost two years ago, has been never ending. Matt says, "He always has a smile, and could still make people laugh when he wasn't even able to talk" at the beginning of his recovery.

Matt is one of only 252 high school seniors selected to receive a scholarship from the Coca Cola Scholars Foundation. He was selected as a finalist from more than 84,000 applicants and 2,200 semifinalists. Next month, he will head to Atlanta where he will compete with the other finalists for 52 four-year $20,000 scholarships and 200 four-year $10,000 scholarships.

A long-time Wilmington resident (Matt's family moved to Wilmington when he was 5), he is headed to Endicott College in Beverly in the fall, where he plans to be a criminal justice major. Matt will also be joining the National Guard Reserves while in college, and will

Mulas announces bid for School Committee

Dear Supporters,

I am pleased to announce my candidacy for School Committee in Wilmington. I've decided to run for School Committee because I've been contacted by many constituents that believe in me and know I will work hard to represent all the citizens of Wilmington. I am running for School Committee because I care deeply about this town and about the people in it. I am also a strong believer in public education. I have attended public schools and I am a graduate of a Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts. My public education has allowed me to be where I am professionally and I want to be able to give back to the community. I have two children in the Wilmington School system and have many friends that also have children in the system. Nothing is more important to my wife Sarah and I than the quality of education these children will receive. I want to be part of continuing to create an environment in Wilmington that is inviting for all the children in the town. Whether they are in kindergarten or a senior in high school, they are all children and they deserve great teachers, great resources and great facilities. After being runner up in last year's election, I continued to be heavily involved in helping the new High School become a reality. I was part of WHS 4.0, a grass roots committee that worked very hard in getting the vote out. We were successful, and I think as a town we can be successful continuing the path for a 21st century education. I want to continue being involved and that's why I am asking for your vote.

Candidate for School Committee, Manny Mulas, with his wife, Sarah, Madison (7) and Maya (5).

These are some of the issues that I stand for:

•Drive to create an environment for children in Wilmington Schools that allows them to have the greatest level of comfort in school and learn at an appropriate pace.

•Support Superintendent Benton's goal of moving the curriculum into a 21st century education.

• Move Wilmington towards a 1:1 teaching initiative, where students would have laptops or tablets.

• I want to see technology fully integrated across all the core subjects.

• Make sure that we continue being proactive about anti bullying and continued decrease of incidents in the schools.

• Drive the effort to make sure we are doing all we can to provide for Special Education.

• Increase after school programs.

• Support the effort to increase MCAS score, especially in the middle school.

• Drive to get wireless into the middle school.

• Work with our state legislators to eliminate unfunded mandates and fix Chapter 70 funding.

I ask for you vote on April 28th, if you have any questions regarding my campaign for School Committee, I can be reached at mannymulas@verizon.net.

Car fire on I-93

By Jon Bishop

WILMINGTON—On Sunday at 9:48 p.m., Wilmington Fire Department responded to a report of a fire on Interstate- 93. The department sent Squad 1 and Aerial Tower 1. According to Deputy Chief John Brown, it was called in by the Massachusetts State Police. No injuries were reported.

The fire in question was located on Route 93 Southbound, south of Concord Street. Brown said crews discovered a vehicle engulfed in flames.

"When they arrived at 9:52, they found a passenger vehicle heavily involved in fire," he said. But, the fire was easy to put out. By 9:56, they had the fire under control.

Brown said crews remained on-scene "for a brief period," before returning to quarters at 10:23 p.m.

He said there were no injuries and, to his knowledge, there was no accident. A vehicle, simply, had caught fire.

He praised the work of the crews.

"They do a great job. It's very dangerous on Route 93. The danger there is from the oncoming traffic," he said.

The smoke from a highway fire can obscure visibility. So, crews normally take an extra lane.

"We move out one lane to give the firefighters some room to work," he said.

Luckily, everything went well.

"We do our best to keep personnel safe out there, and things turned out well for us last night," he said.

Keeping time

Congregational Church clock dates from 1874

By Larz F. Neilson

WILMINGTON - If you want the correct time, just drive by the Congregational Church at 2:38 or 3:38 (it's not clear exactly which hour the clock means), either in the afternoon or in the wee hours — take your pick. Or you could do it at 4:05, the time on the left face. If you miss that, just wait until 1:25, the time on the right face. And the rear face says 8:52. The old clock has four faces, so it's correct eight times a day.

If you take that to mean the clock is not running, you would be correct.

Sabra Carter, a descendant of Rev. Thomas Carter, who in 1642 became the first minister in Woburn, gave the clock to the town in 1874.

Sabra and her brother Timothy J. Carter grew up on a farm on Nichols Street. He was born in 1817, she in 1821 to Sabra Jaques and Timothy Carter. The Carter farmhouse burned about 1837, probably set afire by a spark from a passing locomotive. The Boston and Lowell Railroad, built in the early 1830s, passed very near the house.

Sabra Carter

Somewhat ironically, T.J. Carter became a railroad builder, and quite successful. His sister also developed a successful business, packaging and selling seeds. After the loss of the farmhouse, the family moved to a large house that is now 95 Middlesex Ave.

In 1864, the Congregational Church burned, along with two cracker bakeries that were nearby. Subsequently, a new church was built, and that is the building that is a familiar landmark in Wilmington.

In 1873, the steeple blew down. A new steeple was built, with timbers cut at Clapp's Mill in the Garden of Eden. Benjamin Buck loaned the church the money for the steeple, taking a mortgage on the parsonage, the house at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and Wildwood Street. He later made that a gift, eliminating the mortgage.

A clock was included in that new steeple, donated to the town by Sabra Carter.

It is not known how this came about, for tower clocks were fairly new at the time. Most people were still farmers who ran their lives in time with sunrise and sunset. Coordinated time zones were still in the future. People in one town might have times that varied from the time in the next town.

Possibly it was the influence of T.J. Carter. Railroads were the prime movers in setting standardized times, in order to create train schedules. Carter was a civil engineer who built several railroads. President Abraham Lincoln appointed him as the U.S. Government Director of the Union Pacific Railroad, a position he held from 1863 to 1868.

Miss Sabra J. Carter is not to be confused with her mother, also Sabra J. Mrs. Sabra Carter died in May 1881, and in her will, she provided for the purchase of the land that is now the Town Common. T.J. Carter died in Sept. of that same year.

Sabra Carter lived on, 12 years after that. She took a three-month trip to Europe, visiting France and Switzerland. Some time after her return, she proposed giving some stock to the town, and in return the town was to spend the income on a number of items.

She owned 10 shares of Lombard Investment Co., 20 shares of Denver Electric Light Co. and 20 shares of the Howard State Bank in Kansas. The value was about $5000, a substantial sum in those days.

The income from the Lombard stock was to be used in painting the homes of townspeople, as needed — except that no one who owned a dog, or who had owned a dog in the past two years, could apply. Neither could a person apply if he had ever used tobacco. Furthermore, an applicant must be a member of a temperance society.

The income from the Denver Electric Light Co. was to be used, one half for providing the public library with books about scientific subjects and travel, and the other half for providing for a series of public lectures on scientific subjects — but the lectures had to be on Wednesday afternoons.

The Howard State Bank income was to be divided into eight parts. Two parts were for renovating cemetery stones; one was for keeping the Carter graves in good condition; two were for planting trees by the wayside; and three were for buying settees, which would be set by the wayside, so the weary traveler could rest.

The town meeting voted to accept the offer. But one month later, when the Board of Selectmen got to looking at it, they voted unanimously to reject it.

Henry Blanchard, the chairman, said that Sabra had drawn up a document that would tie the town in knots. It guaranteed the safe keeping of the money, but the money would be of no benefit to the town.

That was that, and the Boston papers reported with some amusement that Sabra's offer had not been accepted.

Sabra died a few years after that and was buried in Woburn. She wouldn't be buried in a town that wouldn't accept her money.

There was a big contest to break her will. Sabra had left her money to make her house into a home for "poor girls of Wilmington." Among the many stipulations was one that the girls had to wear gowns of lavender.

It was alleged that Sabra was insane, but the judge did not so rule. He did observe that she was just a "queer character."

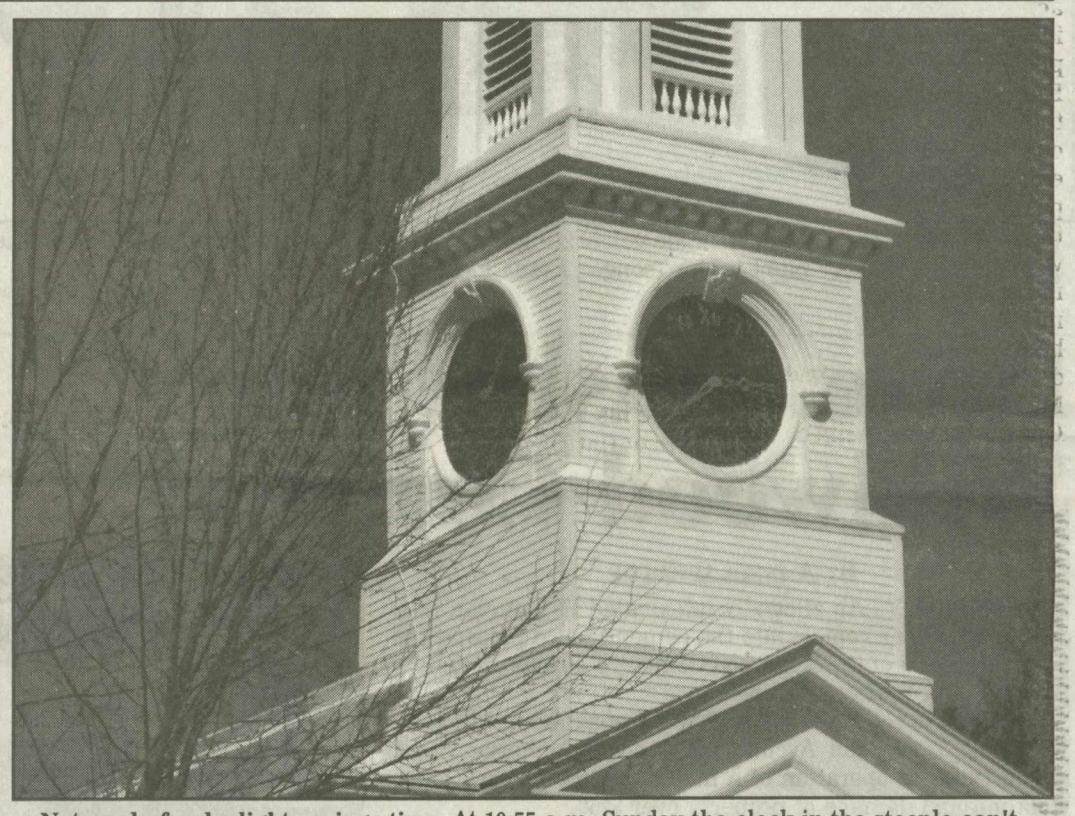

The executors of her will found that they were not able to abide by the provisions. They sold the house and belongings at auction and divided the proceeds as they felt just. The house was divided into three separate houses, and two parts of it were relocated elsewhere on Middlesex Avenue. One of those houses is the Chief Hill house, next to Suppliers Auto Parts.

The original clock was weight-driven. Because the steeple was over the entry of the church, where the weights would have hung, it was arranged for them to run to the back of the church, with cables running over the ceiling of the chapel.

The weights hung in a chamber behind the pulpit.

That worked pretty well for many years, but with the addition to the church in the 1950's, that chamber was removed and the clock converted to electricity. It was no longer necessary to wind the clock. In the late 1950s, the town gave the clock to the Congregational Church.

For many years, the clock was allowed to sit, non-operative. In the 1980s, clockmakers Dave and Jim Roberts did some work on it and it ran for several years. Since then, there have only been occasional calls for service on the clock, but there is no service contract. And with a cell-phone antenna now in the steeple, it is not a place the clockmakers want to work.

Not ready for daylight savings time. At 10:55 a.m. Sunday the clock in the steeple can't quite make up it's mind. Spring back, fall forward, which is it?
It is 4:05 or 22 minutes to 3. It doesn't much matter when you look at it. It's always the same time.

TAX BRACKETS MOVE HIGHER

Adjusting for inflation - 3.8 percent as of August 31, 2011, Uncle Sam has moved tax brackets higher for this year. That means you may be able to earn more without moving up to a higher bracket.

For instance, those earning up to $17,000 topped the 10 percent tax bracket last year; this year the top income at that rate is expected to $17,400. (for singles, the new top is $8,700, up from $8,500.) In the 15 percent bracket, the top is $70,700 for joint filers, up from $69,000; figures are half that for singles.

The new top in the 25 percent bracket is $142,700 for couples, up from $139,350 ($86,500 for singles, up from $83,600). The 28-percent bracket ceiling is now $217,450 for couples, up from $212,300 and the 33-percent bracket is $388,500 for joint filers and singles, up from $379,150. Over that, the rate is 35 percent.

In addition, the personal exemption has moved up to $3,800 from $3,700.

4-H members learn about the science behind AEDs

WILMINGTON - Ah, ha, ha, ha, stayin' alive, stayin' alive. I'll bet the Bee Gees never knew their song would be used to help save lives. That is exactly what the Science Pirates, a 4-H club based in Wilmington, found out when they recently attended a field trip to Zoll Medical in Chelmsford.

Shirley Longo met the club members in the lobby to hand out visitor badges and escort the group through the building.

Cliff King, VP of Manufacturing, conducted a tour of the manufacturing department. Mr. King informed the group that doctors and EMTs use AEDs to keep hearts beating.

Zoll manufactures external defibrillators. You've probably seen a version of one in a box on the wall in some public buildings, usually identified by the letters AED (Automated External Defibrillator). The unit has pictures that show what to do if a person collapses and stops breathing and helps determine whether CPR (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) and/or a shock is necessary.

Mr. King went on to explain that there are many different engineers involved in designing and manufacturing defibrillators. Mechanical engineers design the housing that the actual defibrillator is in, including the frame and physical box connections. Electrical engineers design the PC Boards and power configurations. Computer engineers design the computer programs that make the device work, complete with a synchronized metronome device, as it mimics the body's pulses, to help the user handle the device most efficiently. Michael Cole, VP of Operations, explained the jobs of the engineers from a slightly different angle to help increase understanding. After the device is completed it goes on to be tested in Quality Control to make sure it functions properly. It is then placed in two different temperature testing chambers, one that is 60 degrees Celsius (150 degrees Fahrenheit) and a second one that! is -20 degrees C (-4 degreees F) to check for defects.

Next, the group was brought to the second floor to meet one of the scientists, Annemarie Silver. Ms. Silver explained that she helps develop new software for defibrillators by going to hospitals and riding in ambulances to get real-life experience to determine how the system can be enhanced.

To perform CPR on an individual you must do chest compressions. It is important to do deep compressions. She showed the group a machine with a device called an accelerometer, which uses the same technology as a Wii remote, to measure how deep the compressions are being done, two inches is best.

She went on to say that the heart works like a pump and should beat 70 beats per minute to be efficient. When a person is gasping/not breathing they need to get oxygen to the blood again. If you do compressions to the beat of ah, ha, ha, ha, stayin' alive, stayin' alive, you are doing a good job.

Ms. Silver shared that ventricular fibrillation happens when the heart is quivering instead of beating and that this is when the heart requires a shock. A shock stops the heart momentarily and often, when the heart starts to beat again, it is back in rhythm. She cautioned the group to tell others not to touch the person being given a shock, which is why they say "clear" before they administer a shock.

The last bit of information she shared, before the group got to try CPR, was that many times when CPR is administered some ribs get broken. She asked the group if they'd rather have a few broken ribs or die.

During the whole tour ,two members of the Marketing Department, Allison DeAngelis and Liz Stapleton, were with us taking pictures and when the club members got to practice CPR their efforts were captured on camera.

Ms. Silver shared that Dr. Paul Zoll was called the Pioneer of Pacing.

Club members were given a gift bag containing a stuffed St. Bernard to remind them that the company rescues lives.

OPINION

From:
The Editors Desk

by Jayne W. Miller

Show what you know!

Today, Wednesday, March 14, is Pi Day. 3.14 Day. 3.14159265 day.

It's a big day. For math. Next week kids in our towns will have a big week - MCAS begins. That annual test-taking odyssey can be less an ordeal and more an opportunity to show what you know – if you listen to the parents, teachers, and our own School Superintendents.

For those new to the MCAS (Massachusetts Comprehensive Assessment System) test, it is a high stakes test for school districts, which are judged on the performance of students. With a new teacher evaluation system developing in Massachusetts, another Obama administration initiative that came with a minute amount of stimulus dollars last year, MCAS tests may soon become a barometer for teacher performance.

For tenth grade students, MCAS is the ticket to graduation. Multiple re-tests are offered prior to graduation, but students have to pass in order to get that cap and gown.

For elementary students, the pressure to do well on MCAS can be mystifying. My third grader is taking her first MCAS test (in ELA - English Language Arts) next week and she's been asking me to print out sample tests for her to practice.

So I reached out to my network of friends and colleagues to get their ideas about how to survive MCAS. From college students, high achieving high school seniors, teachers, parents, and our Supers, I got come great advice, which I'm passing onto you.

From Dr. John O'Connor, Tewksbury Public Schools Superintendent

1. Encourage kids to use their best test taking skills... Eliminate some answers and focus on the remaining few.
2. Have fun... Show the test makers how smart you are!
3. Don't panic if you come across a difficult question. Skip it and move on to the next question.
4. Bring a good book to read after you've completed the test.
5. Have mom pack several great snacks for before, during, and after the test.

From Mrs. Joanne Benton, Wilmington Public Schools Superintendent

Get a good night's sleep.
Eat a big breakfast.
Take your time.
Do not leave anything blank. Use the process of elimination.
Answer every question.
Go back and make sure you did not skip any pages.
Just do your best...

Chantelle, a Super Mom, says "Everyone talks about what a BEAST MCAS is, how stressful it is for the kids, etc. I have NOT found that to be the case at all. Emma's school did an AWESOME job keeping everything very mellow and being supportive of the kids. The message was totally that this was an "opportunity to show what you already know". Chantelle also suggested writing your child a letter of encouragement (go do that now, before you forget), and be sure they can read it before they take the test

Laura, Super Teacher, told me that the biggest thing is get to bed early so the kids are well rested, eat a good breakfast, and just let your kids know you only expect her to do her best.

Courtney, Super Senior, said, "Don't rush! They aren't timed so there's no need to rush to finish."

From Sherrell, another Super Teacher, "From a teacher, not a parent . . . Get good sleep. Not just the night before, but as far in advance as possible. Be on time for arrival and dismissal - not late, not early. Pack an extra good lunch. Send love notes. Encourage the kids to take their time - they seem to think it's a race to the finish. Of course, for us, it IS a high stakes test. We do our best to keep that from making any of us crazy."

From Tammy, another Super Mom, "Besides sleep and a protein packed breakfast. I remind them to complete the questions they are absolutely sure about first and then go back and take your time on the ones that they're NOT sure about. I'm with all of the above taking your time is the key!"

From my Aunt Rusty, Super mom, Super Aunt, and Super writer offers a practical solution about that test-morning breakfast, "A good breakfast should not be too packed with carbs (pancakes, toast, etc.) Eggs, bacon, FRESH fruit, and milk. I always packed orange sections for my kids to take right before and during any breaks. Keeps the blood sugar high."

Courtney, Super College Student, "Sleep the night before and do not stress about it! Most likely, your teachers have prepared you for it! And just take your time, its not that bad."

Finally, from Connie, Super Mom, "Know that no matter what, you are smarter than you think you are!"

So, consider this your Crier map for MCAS success. Sleep Well, Eat Right, Relax, Take Your Time, and Show what you know... not a bad recipe for life either.

Special thanks to all my Supers!

Acts of Kindness

by Jomarie O'Mahony

If not you, then who?

During February School Vacation, I took my oldest son, currently in third grade, to the John F. Kennedy Museum to work on his school project on a biography of someone famous from Massachusetts. While at the Museum, he was asking many questions about President Kennedy and thankfully my mother accompanied us and could give us many vivid memories of different moments in Kennedy history.

> "One person can make a difference, and everyone should try."
> --John E Kennedy

We came upon the area where we can watch President Kennedy giving his inaugural address and when he came to the line "Ask not what your country can do for you- ask what you can do for your country", I could tell my son had questions as to why the people around us and in the crowd the day of the inauguration responded so enthusiastically. Later that evening, he asked me what President Kennedy had meant and after some thought, I came up with: When you see a need, you can choose to ignore it or excuse it as someone else's responsibility or even criticize it as a failure of our community or country but if you don't try to address it in some way, who will? And why is it their job and not yours?

As we were talking, I knew this would be the theme of March's Acts of Kindness- citizenship. Wilmington is an unbelievable community with many outstanding citizens. I am honored to be among the Good Guys of town and know there are many others in the town who just need the plaque and dinner to seal the deal! This month, I ask you to look around your house, neighborhood and community and identify something you can do to make a difference. Even if it is spending an afternoon picking up litter or cleaning a public space that needs a little extra help, know that you are making a difference.

Discover all that Wilmington has to offer in its citizenship and all of the many wonderful organizations in town that support the citizens, whether it is Local Heroes, the Book Store Next Door, the Wilmington Community Fund, the Wilmington Educational Foundation, or the Women of Wilmington (and this list is just the tip of the iceberg!) find out what people are doing and how you can help. Check in with your house of worship, your children's school, or another organization you are or want to be involved in and see if you can offer an hour or two to help start a project or complete a task.

If you feel like you are just one person who can't make a difference, rally your network to help you! I am always amazed at how so many people rally around a cause when asked for help- they just needed to be asked!

As always, contact me with your ideas and comments and I will be more than happy to help you get started in whatever it is you want to accomplish! My email is jomarie0525@yahoo.com.

As we were leaving the museum, we visited the gift shop and I bought some items that said "One person can make a difference, and everyone should try." Simple, yet powerful words to live by. See if this month, you can take steps towards living those words.

I am Scott's kidney

By SCOTT J. MULLOWNEY
Staff Columnist

I am Scott's kidney. I've spent many years filtering blood, weeding out imperfections and performing a multitude of other functions too numerous to mention (it's all medical jargon mumbo jumbo you probably wouldn't understand anyway). I don't mean to have an attitude, but I have been virtually ignored all these years. I thought it was time to make myself known. In a big way.

I wanted to get Scott's attention, so I formed a stone, made of mostly calcium with either oxalate or phosphate for good measure. I chose the most opportune moment to release it into the body system. I started sending small signals of pain to Scott's brain while he was in rush hour traffic at 8:30 in the morning on Rte. 93 heading into Boston. He tried to ignore the pain. He thought it was a pulled muscle, something he could walk off when he arrived at work. He was quite a trooper. In fact, he made it all the way to his office before he realized something more serious was happening. After reporting his rapidly declining condition to his boss, he got back into his car and headed home on the expressway.

I sent shooting waves of stabbing pain through Scott's lower back as he sped toward Stoneham. The uncomfortable sensation caused him to drive at dangerous speeds while trying to call his wife on her cell phone before she left for work. Let's just say it was an interesting trip from the city back to Stoneham. I cranked up the pain meter causing him to contemplate pulling off the road in Somerville and have his wife call an ambulance to intercept him on the highway. I am such a naughty little organ.

Nevertheless, he made it all the way to his driveway where his wife waited to whisk him away to the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital emergency room (although not fast enough for Scott's liking judging by his choice words from the passenger seat).

"Step on the gas," he said wincing in pain.

"I am stepping on the gas. I can't go any faster," his wife said calmly.

"Yes you can. AAARRRGGGHHHH!"

I was amused by the fact that they still didn't suspect I was causing this chaos.

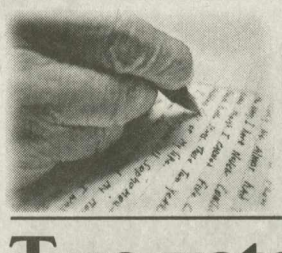

The registration nurse at the ER asked Scott to take a seat and told him someone would be with him shortly. The nerve of that woman. Let's just say I don't like waiting. It was time for me to crank up the pain level. I began sending subtle signals to some other organs to join in the fun. Right on cue, the pain wrapped around from Scott's back to his stomach. He tried to recline on the hard waiting room seats but he couldn't get comfortable. Obviously the nurses knew he was in pain, but there were other people ahead of him – people with more immediate problems like the sniffles or an inflamed pinky finger.

That's when I thought of a sure way to get noticed. I unleashed the floodgates of reflexive, uncontrolled vomiting. That seemed to do the trick. Finally, the nurses began taking us seriously. Even the other patients who were waiting shouted choruses of "Take him first. Please." No one wanted to share the waiting area with someone who had all of Gwyneth Paltrow's symptoms from the movie "Contagion". I bet you didn't know kidneys were big Matt Damon fans. Well, we are. But I digress.

After being admitted to the triage unit, and several tests later, my presence was finally acknowledged. Well not me exactly, but the tiny stone I produced as my calling card. Who knew something so small could wreak such havoc as it travels through the human body?

Scott can thank me for slowing him down and providing him with a few surprise sick days. Out of the blue – that's how we kidneys roll.

Being a kidney is not all fun and games. I feel I am the most underrated and ignored organ in the human body. Thanks to my latest shenanigans, I will always be firmly entrenched in Scott's mind. Every slight back twinge and innocent muscle pull will remind him of the time I came to the forefront of his thoughts for a few days. Sometimes kidneys need tender loving care. And thanks to my outburst, I finally got some. Lot's of it. Things have settled down for the moment. I'm fine with taking a backseat while I let Scott catch his breath and return to his normal routine. I just wanted to have my story told. Rest assured I'll be paying him another visit when he least expects it.

PLEASE RECYCLE

Two votes for Wilson

Dear Editor,

As twenty-year residents of Tewksbury, Massachusetts, it is without hesitation that we endorse Scott Wilson for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. Scott has been a positive voice in our recent endeavor to open a family-friendly business in the town and has encouraged us in this. Like most Tewksbury residents, Scott is supportive of changes that will make our town an even better place to raise a family.

We have worked directly with Scott as members of the FTCAC, a concerned group of parents and residents who support an athletic complex, which will enhance the completion of the construction of the new Tewksbury Memorial High School. This complex will be a tremendous opportunity for our town, which will positively affect generations of students to come.

In addition, Scott Wilson has been an assistant coach for our son's travel basketball team for the past two years. We have been impressed with Scott's dedication to the team and his support of the players throughout both seasons. By his nature, Scott creates a positive environment during the games, which goes a long way in helping the boys to succeed and feel good about sports.

We are confident that a vote for Scott Wilson on Saturday, April 14th, is a vote for continued positive changes in the Town of Tewksbury.

Most people aren't ambitious enough to get out of bed in the middle of the night to peek at the storm passing through town. Dennis Donahue of McDonald Road, Wilmington is not one of them. He submitted this photo of, presumedly his hand, holding some of Tuesday night's hail. Most were pea sized, some grape sized and it was all gone in the morning. If you slept through it, you missed it completely. More power to ya!

WHS Model UN at BC High

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Model United Nations club traveled to Boston College High School this past weekend to debate and find solutions to the pressing issues of today's world. Topics included global homelessness, sanitation in undeveloped countries, Latin American drug trade, the presence of totalitarian governments, the 2012 presidential election, expansion of McDonald's franchises into third world countries, and one historical conference regarding the 1776 joint Continental Congress.

John Romano, Jeremy Frost, and Hannah Briere received Distinguished Delegate Awards for their performance in their conferences. Overall, all Wilmington students participating had successful debates and represented their school extremely well.

Shawsheen Tech's graduation, dropout rates among the state's finest

BILLERICA - While a recent study by the Patrick-Murray Administration celebrated that the state's four-year high school graduation rate had improved for the fifth consecutive year and the annual dropout rate was at its lowest, vocational schools in Massachusetts continue to enjoy success that far exceeds their counterparts.

Shawsheen Tech in Billerica is no exception with numbers that are better than the state's averages across the board along with being one of the top vocational schools in Massachusetts as well.

The state's graduation rate, for example, is 83.4 percent while the dropout rate is 2.7 percent.

At vocational schools, the dropout rate is less than one percent (0.9), significantly better than the state average.

Shawsheen's graduation rate in 2010-2011 was 97.6 percent while its dropout rate was 0.2 percent.

That graduation rate ranks Shawsheen 16th among 288 high schools in Massachusetts.

Superintendent-Director Charles Lyons said Shawsheen's average daily attendance, 96.9 percent of the student body, helps a lot.

"That means students love coming to school and we hire competent people," said Lyons. "And that's why our scores are so high. Shawsheen students don't drop out and they graduate on time. The students are engaged and involved here in their education. As the father of vocational technical education Ben Franklin once said, 'Tell me, and I forget. Teach me, and I remember. Involve me, and I learn.'"

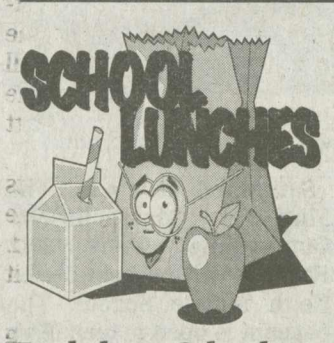

Shawsheen also excels in regards to the graduation rates of its low-income students and its special education students. Throughout the state, the graduation rate for low-income students is 69 percent while the special education graduation rate state-wide is 65.6 percent.

At Shawsheen, those rates are 97.2 and 97.8 percent, respectively.

Those figures rank Shawsheen eighth out of 288 schools in Massachusetts for special-education students and 15th for low-income students. Five of the seven schools ranked ahead of Shawsheen for Special Education graduation rates are charter schools with fewer than 20 eligible students.

Six of the schools ranked ahead of Shawsheen for low-income student graduation rates were charter or agricultural schools.

"We're very disappointed in DESE's press release that failed to highlight the statewide positive results vocational schools demonstrated," Lyons said.

A vote for David Gay

Dear Editor,

As election time draws near, we as responsible Tewksbury citizens are faced with the task of choosing a Selectman who will both lead by example and represent the Town's best interests as we move forward as a community. I think the obvious choice is David H. Gay who has done both in the years so far he's been at the job.

Since first being elected David has spearheaded initiatives such as the Annual Town Clean up Day and is working toward needed improvements to the Route 38 corridor we know as Main Street. As Chairman of the Economic Development Committee he is part of the effort to bring new business and economic growth to our Town as proven by the recent relocation of Thermo-Fisher Company to Tewksbury. He is also the Selectman representative member of the Community Preservation Committee and as such is working toward the completion of our historic Town Hall renovation.

David is a man of honesty and integrity who strives to look for the best in people and I believe he is dedicated to making our Town a better place in which to live. Please join me in casting your vote for David H. Gay for your Selectman on April 14, 2012. Thank you.

Karyn Sliva

Support from a son

Dear Editor,

On April 14th, I would like you to consider voting for my father, David H. Gay, for Selectman. Between his time on the Planning Board and the Board of Selectmen, he has six years of experience as an elected official. During this time, he's accomplished a lot. Tewksbury will soon be welcoming Thermo-Fisher to town and the 200 jobs they'll bring with them. Ocean State Job Lot recently opened where there used to be a large vacant building. It is far less likely that these businesses would be here if David and his fellow Economic Development Committee members hadn't worked so hard to make Tewksbury an Economic Target Area.

Development, however, is only one thing my father has on his plate. He's out four to five nights each week meeting with the committees he's on or with concerned residents. Being on the board isn't an easy job, but he is always up for the task. As a selectman he's been incredibly accessible to everyone in the town, and an excellent example of what every public official should b. This town is moving in the right direction, and to keep it going this way we need the right people leading us. I think my father David is the man for the job. Vote April 14 to re-elect David H. Gay. Thank you.

David C. Gay

State Cmte. Woman race

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the front page story appearing in last weeks Town Crier, "It's Mitt for Wilmington." In my opinion it was a forgone conclusion that Mitt Romney was going to win the presidential nomination in both Wilmington and Massachusetts by a landslide. The real story of the vote in the March 6, 2012 Republican Presidential Primary here in Wilmington was that our incumbent Republican State Committeewoman representative was resoundingly defeated and why.

I believe that the exit polling associated with last weeks story did little more than provide an opportunity for a School Committee candidate with "puff piece" coverage not afforded to the other two candidates. I was at the Wildwood School holding a Kimberly Incamo for GOP State Committeewoman sign for nine hours. I find it curious that the Town Crier reporter expressed no curiosity about a lone sign holder for a new political challenger, but during the twenty minutes I went home for lunch a candidate for School Committee happens to vote. In my opinion this represents poor objective reporting!

It is obvious to me that Washington is broken. It is time that we conservatives take back the Republican Party from go along to get along politicians like the School Committee candidate interviewed in last weeks story (who previously wrote a letter to the editor in support of the defeated incumbent GOP State Committeewoman). I believe it was outrageous that from the field of available candidates, the Massachusetts Republican State Committee recently elected a new State Chairman who donated money to the campaign of New York Senator Chuck Schumer and our own Democratic Governor Deval Patrick.

Respectfully,
George Lingenfelter
Wilmington

Editor's Note: While we always appreciate feedback from our readers, it's important to also ensure our readers that we work very hard to maintain a unbiased perspective.

Our Reporter visited the Wildwood voting location at noon and spoke with three willing voters other than Mr. Lingenfelter. The reporter did speak with Mr. Lingenfelter for several minutes, although she did not directly ask him about who he voted for because he was holding a sign supporting Gingrich and Incampo. Their conversation encompassed topics outside the election as well.

Our reporter wrote about the issues that voters raised during exit polling. While not every voter chose to identify who they voted for, all voters she spoke with on Election Day said the economy and jobs were the most important issues affecting them and helped them decide which candidate(s) they voted for. When asked who they voted for, none of the voters chose to mention which State Committee Person they voted for; they either mentioned presidential candidates by name, or said they did not wish to indicate for whom they voted. There was no prompting for a specific candidate or position on the part of the Crier Reporter. The question was open to an answer for any candidate running for any position.

Mr. Lingenfelter is correct that the Crier should have printed more information about the State Committee Woman race, however a lone sign holder's opinion does not make a story."

Let's Hear it!! Your Two Cents...

There outta be a law!

I hate it when I'm driving and approach an intersection with the lights red all 'round; the walk signal is indicating someone should be walking, somewhere. But there's nobody in sight!

But wait! There's a runner, dodging traffic, running away from the intersection. He must have pushed the pedestrian button and then, too impatient to wait his turn, bolted through the "Do Not Walk" hand, leaving us motorists to burn $3.69 / gal gas, watching the red lights.

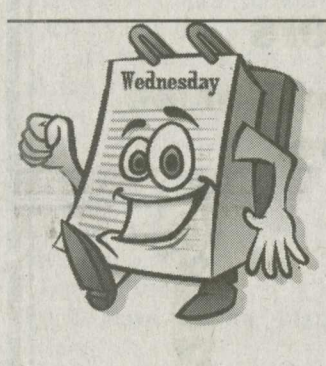

Re-Elect Scott Wilson

Dear Editor,

We would like to endorse Scott Wilson on his re-election bid to the position of Selectman in the Town of Tewksbury. Scott is a natural leader and has already demonstrated this ability by serving our community well these past three years. Scott is very generous as he volunteers time and energy to making a difference in our town government, youth sports, as well as friend and neighbor.

Decision making is never easy, especially during these tough economic times. We applaud Scott for wanting to serve again as Selectman and take pride in knowing that Scott will always stand up for what he believes is for the betterment of our Town of Tewksbury.

The Glorious Revolution & Queen Victoria

BU Prof. Chernock speaking at Library

WILMINGTON - As part of the library's Kings and Queen's series, popular Boston University Professor, Arianne Chernock, will speak Thursday, March 22, 7 p.m. about kingship during the Glorious Revolution, also known as the Revolution of 1688 –the transition from the Stuart kings to William and Mary, and the Hanoverians. Belle of Ball needs prom-related accessories, donations, to make prom night a success

TEWKSBURY - Anton's Cleaners has launched its 8th annual Belle of Ball program with the continued mission to collect, clean and distribute prom gowns to area high school junior and senior girls who otherwise would not be able to attend their prom. All dresses are cleaned by Anton's free of charge as a community service.

Students who meet the guidelines to participate will "shop" for their dresses at a special "boutique" held in Boston at Simmons College on April 14. Prom dresses are being collected at all Anton's Cleaners and Jordan's Furniture stores. But what would make the night complete are the accessories needed to assure these young ladies can look their very best.

Every year, the goal of Belle of the Ball is to provide these deserving girls the opportunity to shop for a free gown at the boutique as well as provide raffle prizes for hair, nail and prom accessories, which will be given out throughout the day. Therefore, in order to eliminate additional prom-day expenses and to ensure the boutique day is a success, Belle of the Ball is asking for help, either financially or with a donation of in-kind prom related services. Donations can include new shoes, makeup, purses, jewelry, and other prom-related items. Raffle items can include gift certificates for hair salons, limousine services, restaurants, etc.

As a 501(c) 3 program, all donations to Belle of the Ball are tax-deductible.

"With your support, we will be able to enhance the boutique and provide attendees with raffle prizes," says Charles A. Anton, president of Anton's Cleaners. "This will help eliminate additional prom-day expenses and make the day even more special for the girls."

For more information about donating raffle items or making a cash donation, contact Aidan Bradley at abradley@fuseideas.com. For more information on Belle of the Ball visit www.antons.com/belle.

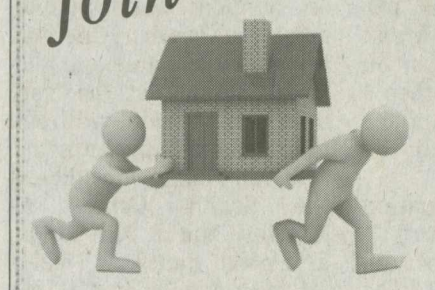

Anton's Cleaners serves the Boston area, Eastern Massachusetts and Southern New Hampshire with its 42 stores and home delivery in certain communities. Care, quality and value are hallmarks of Anton's dependable dry cleaning and shirt laundry service. Anton's is also recognized nationally and locally for its commitment to improving the lives of those in the communities it serves through two major community responsibility programs, Coats for Kids and Belle of the Ball www.antons.com/belle

The Middlesex Canal Association presents:

Bicycle tour of Middlesex Canal

WILMINGTON/LOWELL- On Sunday, April 1, 2012, the Middlesex Canal Association will present a spring bicycle tour of the Middlesex Canal. The Canal was the "big dig" of the end of the 18th century. Completed in 1803 after 10 years of construction, the Canal connected the Merrimac River in what is now Lowell with the Charles River at Sullivan Square in Charlestown. In many ways it served as a model for later canals including the Erie Canal. The Canal remained in operation for 50 years, providing both passenger and freight service, but could not compete successfully with the Boston and Lowell Railroad which began operation in the 1830's.

The ride will meet at 9:30 a.m. at North Station (commuter rail) and take our bicycles on the 10 a.m. train to Lowell. (Riders can also board at West Medford at 10:11 or meet the Train when it arrives in Lowell at 10:43). The route visits Lowell canals, river walk, Francis Gate, and then Middlesex Canal remnants in Chelmsford. Lunch will be at the Route 3A mini-mall in Billerica followed by a quick visit to the Canal Museum, then on to Boston.

It will be a long day, but sunset is late. Riders needing to leave early can get the train to Boston at 1:07 at North Billerica or at 3:14 at Wilmington. Participants are responsible for one-way train fare [$6.75 from Boston to Lowell]. Complete Lowell line schedules can be downloaded at www.mbcr.net if anyone wishes to plan a rail travel itinerary specific to their needs.

The route is relatively flat and level and we will average 5 miles per hour, so the ride will be an easy one for most cyclists. Along the way we will stop at a number of remnants and restored sections of the Canal, as well as the Mansion of Loammi Baldwin, the chief engineer of the Canal (who discovered the Baldwin apple while building the Canal), the two remaining aqueducts (which carried the Canal over rivers and brooks), and the northern end of the floating tow path that carried horses over the Millpond.

Bill Kuttner of the Shirley Eustis House (617-241-9383, bkuttner@ctps.org) and Dick Bauer of the Somerville Historie Preservation Commission and the Middlesex Canal Commission (857-540-6293,dick.bauer@alum.mit.edu) will lead the ride. Helmets are required. Steady rain will cancel the excursion.

For more information about the Middlesex Canal go to: www.middlesexcanal.org.

The Stuart Highland Band presents...

An Evening of Celtic Music

Saturday, March 24, 7:30 p.m.

CHELMSFORD – On March 24th, the Stuart Highlanders, New England's top ranking competitive pipe band, will present "The Stuart Highlanders: In Concert."

The evening will also feature performances by The Middlesex County Volunteers Fifes & Drums, Fellswater and the Calder School of Highland Dance.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Chelmsford Performing Arts Center in nearby North Chelmsford.

Residents of Burlington, Reading, Winchester, Woburn and the area are invited to this new experience.

In August of 2011, The Stuart Highlanders traveled to Scotland to compete in the World Pipe Band Championship. This was the band's first time competing overseas and they finished fifth overall and first in piping. 2012 will see the band overseas again, this time to perform at the Basel International Tattoo. The tattoo cast will put on 14 shows in 10 days and play for approximately 10,000 audience members per show.

Founded in 1964 by members of the First Parish Church in Bedford, the Stuart Highland Pipe Band is now based in Wilmington and has grown to include over fifty members in two competition pipe bands. Both bands will take the stage on March 24th and will play selections of traditional pipe band music as well as contemporary compositions and collaborations with Fellswater and the Middlesex County Volunteers.

Fellswater was formed in 2009 and made its performance debut at the Stuart Highlanders Concert that year.

Fellswater plays a wide range of music drawing from the heritage of all the Celtic nations. Their instrumentation changes depending on the musical selection and includes whistle, Irish flute, bouzouki, guitar, mandolin, violin, small pipes and border pipes.

Fellswater has performed recently at the Blackstone River Theatre in Cumberland Rhode Island, the New Hampshire Highland Games at loon Mountain, and at the Boston Celtic Music Festival in Cambridge.

The Middlesex County Volunteers Fifes & Drums (MCV) was established in 1982 by Boston-area musicians who wished to explore the traditional repertoires of the regimental fife and drum corps. They have evolved into a repertory ensemble performing martial, dance, and folk music drawn from 17th, 18th, and early 19th century sources in America and Europe. Their repertoire includes marches, dances, and airs, originating on the Continent as well as the United Kingdom and North America.

MCV has produced eight recordings and has traveled throughout the Eastern United States and Europe. Recent performances include the 2007 Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo and the 2010 Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo in Sydney Australia.

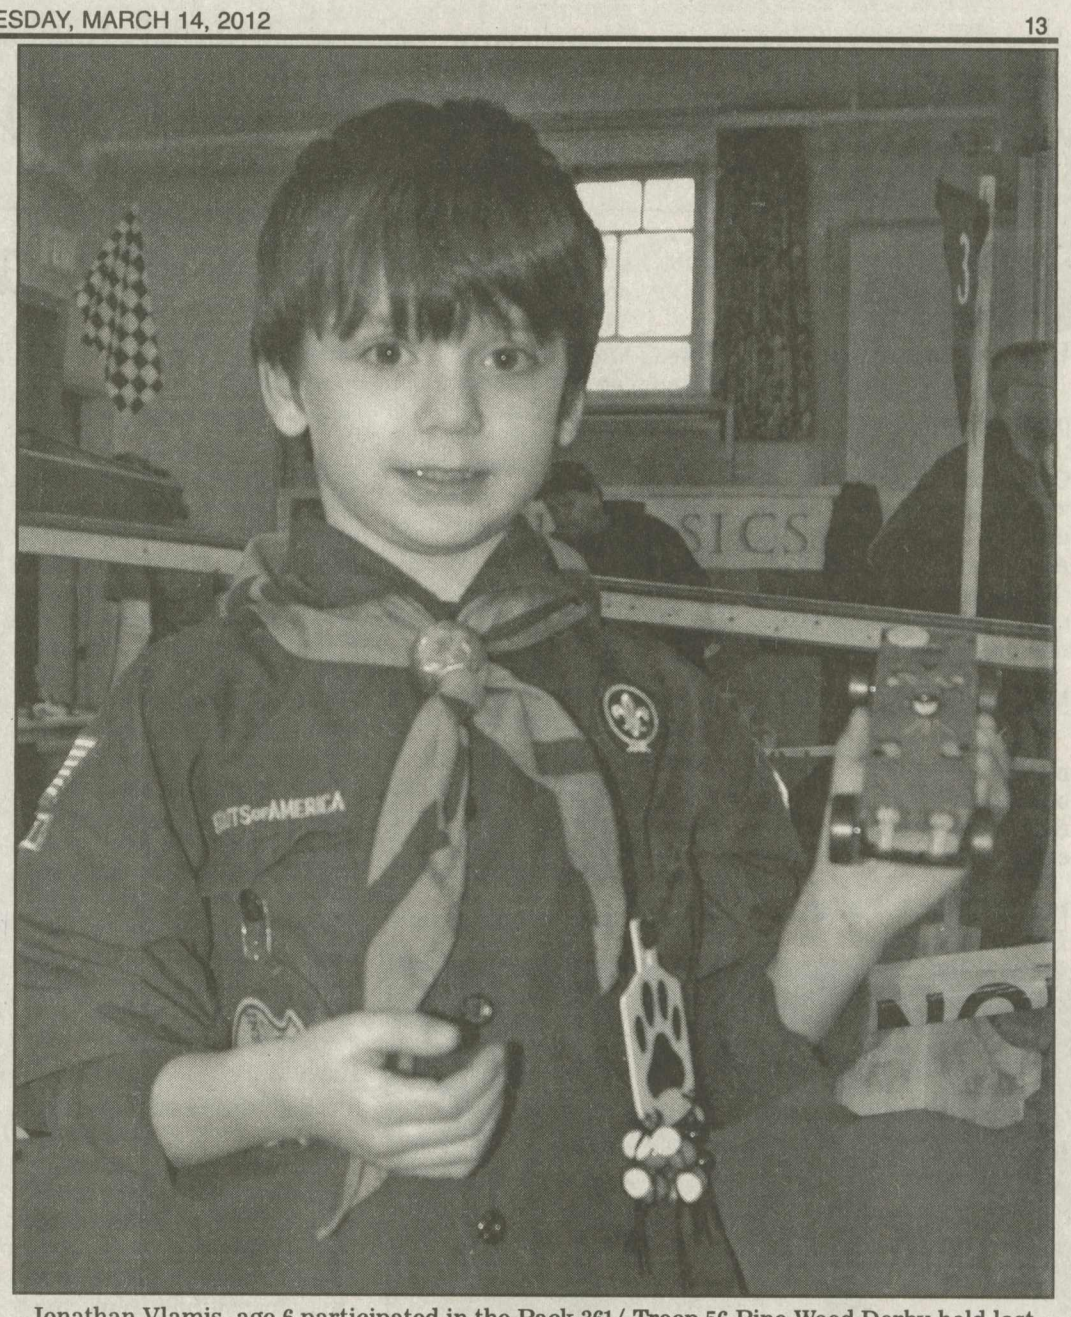

The Calder School of Highland Dance will return to the stage this year to present a combination of strength, agility, movement, music, and costume. The tremendous strength, stamina, and technical precision that accomplished dancers exhibit on stage comes from years of independent training and collaboration with experienced teachers.

Wilmington-area people can join The Stuart Highlanders with musical friends Fellswater, The Calder School of Scottish Dance, and The Middlesex County Volunteers for an evening of traditional tunes, contemporary collaborations, dance, and music from Scotland, Ireland, Brittany, Galicia, and Cape Breton Island!

Tickets for the Stuart Highlanders annual concert are on sale now: $20 for adults, $10 for children 12 and under.

Doors at the Chelmsford Performing Arts Center open at 7 p.m.

For tickets, call the Stuart Highland Pipe Band at 978396-0188 or visit http://www.stuarthighlanders.com.

Walk-ins are always welcome.

This July, Deanna will be taking part in her sixth Breast Cancer 3-Day walk. Thanks to events like the 3-Day, the organization has invested more than $1.5 billion, becoming the world's largest source of nonprofit funds dedicated to the fight against Breast Cancer. Deanna's amazing team, The Pink Angels, have alone raised over one million dollars! Every step brings us closer to a cure.

Chances are that you or someone you know has been affected by breast cancer; it is a fact that one in eight women will get breast cancer....but we're trying to change that because Everyone Deserves a Lifetime!

Caira announces retirement date

Selectmen start search process Mar. 26

By Amanda Geldhof

WILMINGTON - Town Manager Michael Caira announced at the Board of Selectmen meeting on Monday night that he will step down from active employment with the Town of Wilmington on September 30, 2012.

Caira was first appointed as Town Manager in 1990. He has served the community in the same capacity for 22 years.

"I have been especially privileged to have had the opportunity to serve the residents of Wilmington as Town Manager over these past 22 years," Caira stated in his letter. "It has been an honor to work with dedicated officials, hard working employees and countless volunteers who generously give of their time for what truly is a very special community."

The members of the Board of Selectmen have stated on several occasions that they will miss Caira after his retirement.

"I think we know as a town we have been privileged to have you here for 22 years," Board of Selectmen Chairman Louis Cimaglia said at the Manager's budget presentation in January.

At the same presentation Selectman Champoux said, "I feel that many of the practices and policies that you have established as standard for the way this government operates have put us in the position to be able to do some of the remarkable things that residents have been able to take advantage of."

"I appreciate the very kind words," Caira said in response to the selectmen's comments. "It's a bit embarrassing sitting up here, but it's better than the alternative."

The Board of Selectmen will begin discussing the process of selecting a new Town Manager at the next Board meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, March 26 in Room 9 of Town Hall, 121 Glen Road.

Cimaglia said he will abstain from the discussion because he is also a Town employee. He asked Selectman Michael Newhouse to act as chairman throughout the discussions regarding the selection of a new Town Manager.

Caira previously told the Crier that he wants to be part of the transition, ensuring that it goes as smoothly as possible, with a candidate selected if not already on board when he retires. This sentiment was reiterated in his letter to the Board.

"As discussed previously and subject to the concurrence of the Board, I will make myself available to assist the Town as necessary through any period of transition both prior to and after my departure as Town Manager," Caira said.

Town regarding the improvements, and raises concerns that chemicals in the artificial turf could contaminate private drinking water wells, among other complaints.

"Proper procedures, regarding advertisement, public hearings and application to all authorities having jurisdiction, including the local Wilmington Conservation Commission and the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection have been followed," Superintendent Benton told the Crier via e-mail. "The design team has engaged the services of highly qualified Massachusetts registered civil engineering firms to perform all necessary and required calculations, investigations and analyses, in order to protect Town residents, resources and wetlands."

Construction of the field was scheduled to begin this spring and be completed and ready for use in September.

"The vote for the new high school was overwhelming in its approval, however, that did not dissuade or over-ride the concerns held by this small group," Carole Hamilton, director of the Planning and Conservation in Wilmington, said. "As frustrating as it may be, I believe the appeal process has to run its course."

"Everyone has the right to file appeals where the law allows it," Selectman and High School Building Committee Member Michael Newhouse said. "But if people are being accurately quoted ... it's offensive to me what is going on here." He said only two of the 10 residents that filed the appeal voted at the Special Town Meeting last December. Newhouse went on to explain that the appeal may delay the High School Building Project.

Benton said that the appeal will not affect the construction of the new high school project.

"The appeal has been made to the athletic field project, which is separate from the new high school project. The completion of the athletic field project is not a condition precedent to starting the high school project," explained Benton.

The High School Building Project was approved by voters in the Special Town Election on December 6, and a historical Special Town Meeting on December 10, which hosted a record-breaking crowd of more than 1,500 people.

The High School Building Committee will discuss the appeal for the first time at its next meeting scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Thursday evening in Room 9 at Town Hall, 121 Glen Road.

Residents are encouraged to attend public meetings and hearings and voice their support, including the Thursday night meeting.

"I do not, for a moment, think that this small group of self-anointed "watch dogs" represents the interests of the population of Wilmington," Selectman Michael Champoux said in a recent email regarding the appeal. "In fact, I feel strongly that they are content to harm the community in order to advance their own agenda."

Stevenson did not return multiple calls for comment.

switch to active duty in the infantry when he graduates. Matt says that the infantry has appealed to him since he was a kid. His family attributes that interest to the fact that Matt's grandfather - who was awarded both a Bronze Star and a Purple Heart - was in World War II, and was part of the action during D-Day and the Battle of the Bulge. "He didn't talk about it," Matt says, "but his family did" and that's probably what sparked his interest.

Matt's community service is extensive. In addition to volunteering for Local Heroes every Wednesday, Matt also volunteers at Wilmington High School with the Band Buddy Program, Bread and Roses, the Mentors program, Mock Trial, S.A.D.D, is president of the high school's 9/11 Memorial Committee, and is a National Honor Society member just to name a few.

To those who know him, it's probably no surprise that Matt would stand out among the thousands who applied for the scholarships. Says Matthew's uncle and godfather, Jason Amello, "I am so proud of my nephew, as he is the most humble, polite, considerate and caring teenager I, and as I have been told, many others know."

And although Matt says his teacher Tracey Kassin inspires him, Kassim says, "Matt is someone who has inspired me. From the time I met him, I was impressed by his determination and commitment to honoring veterans in the Town of Wilmington. He has maturity beyond his years, strong ethics and values, and stands up for what he believes in. He always wants to help others and has outstanding leadership skills. I have seen him work with younger students, his peers, adults, parents and veterans. In all settings, he takes time to listen, is respectful and empathetic to others. I am so proud of him and grateful for the time I have spent with him in the classroom and on extracurricular activities. From him, I have seen the positive and lasting impact a young man can have on the community. He truly deserves to be honored with this scholarship."

Lou Cimaglia, Local Heroes founder describes Matt as " a great kid and a volunteer machine. He is a very caring young man that will help in any way he can." Cimaglia was one of the people who wrote a letter of recommendation for Matt as part of the semifinalist stage of the scholarship program. In his letter, Cimaglia stated, "I am hard pressed to imagine a young man who better fits the criteria for this award than Matt. His insatiable appetite for volunteerism and bettering his community make him an exemplary candidate for this scholarship." He goes on to say, "Matt's dream is to one day become an Army Ranger, the best of the best. Spending just a few moments with Matt and you will realize he has the intangible skill set that makes a Ranger: the intellect, enthusiasm, passion and drive that embody those elite soldiers."

The Coca Cola Scholars Foundation says its mission is to "provide scholarship programs ... in support of exceptional peoples' thirst for knowledge and their desire to make a difference in the world" and to create a community of leaders "whose vision will help shape the world, leaving a lasting legacy for generations to come." In closing his recommendation letter, Cimaglia described Matt as "a standout student, one who makes our town proud and will someday make our country proud." It's easy to see why one would be hard pressed to find anyone more deserving of the Coca Cola Scholar program's highest award than Matt Palermo.

and was transported to a near by hospital for treatment.

"She was lucky," Desmond said. "Given the amount of damage to the car and property, she is really lucky her injuries weren't more severe."

The Lieutenant reported that the Wilmington Police Department handles approximately 70 OUIs each year, but this type of accident is unusual in the town.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) website, in the United States, almost 30 people die each day in motor vehicle crashes that involve an alcohol-impaired driver. This equates to one death every 48 minutes.

"We have our share of OUIs [in Wilmington], but it is really a matter of concern when reckless driving is mixed with alcohol," Desmond said.

Division 2 North Champions!!!

'Cats to face Franklin for state title on Sunday

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High Boys Hockey team have been underdogs all season long, so it will likely come as no surprise to them that when the Division 2 North champions take to the TD Garden ice at 3:30 on Sunday afternoon to take on South Sectional champion Franklin they will once again be firmly entrenched as underdogs.

The Wildcats (15-4-5) will likely not be losing any sleep over their underdog role either. After all they overcame it when they joined the tough Middlesex League this year for the first time, earning a second place finish in the league despite playing a mostly Division 1 schedule.

They overcame it again in the sectionals, when as a No. 8 seed they defeated three straight revenge minded former Cape Ann League rivals on their way to the finals, including top seeded Lynnfield in the second round.

And it didn't seem to bother them on Monday night when they beat a Winthrop

Defeat Winthrop 4-2 at Tsongas Arena

Wildcats avoid sectional final trap

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

LOWELL -- There would be no heartbreak this time for the Wilmington High Hockey team.

After reaching the sectional semi-finals as the top seed in each of the last two seasons only to see their season end each time in heartbreaking elimination, this year's group of Wildcats wrote a much different ending on Monday night at the Tsongas Center in Lowell with a dramatic 4-2 victory over Winthrop in the Division 2 North Sectional Final.

Senior captain Dalton Rolli was the hero for the Wildcats, scoring a the game winner on a highlight reel goal with 2:08 remaining to give the No. 8 seeded Wildcats a 3-2 lead. Sophomore Brendan McDonough added an empty netter one minute later to seal the win for the Wildcats and send them on to the Division 2 State Championship game at the TD Garden this Sunday at 3:30 where they will take on South Sectional champion and returning state finalist Franklin.

It is the Wildcats (15-4-5) first trip to the state finals since 2008 when they fell 1-0 to Sandwich and their third trip to the title game in the school's history, having lost to Christopher Columbus High in 1984.

"This is incredible. I have always wanted to play at the Garden ever since I was a

LOWELL -- During last year's playoff run, then a junior, Dalton Rolli scored the team's overtime goal against Masconomet. He was surrounded by reporters after the game and the kid was brutally honest, talking about his immaturity as a sophomore, and the things he needed to do to get into the line-up on a consistent basis and into situations like the one he had against Masco.

A year later, and with the 'C' on his shirt, Rolli scored an even bigger goal. This time on Monday night, he tallied what turned out to be the game winner, coming with 2:08 left in a tied game, which lifted Wilmington past Winthrop and into the state championship game to be played this Sunday at the TD Garden. This was his first goal of the post season for Rolli, and again surrounded by reporters, he was brutally honest.

"It's my first goal of the tournament and it took a while, but what better time than this?'" he asked, before being asked himself if he has been pressing, "I don't know if I've been pressing but I've been nervous. I mean I'm always nervous in games but it's more this time around. All I do is think about hockey and our next game. Even in school, I never pay attention while I'm there, I just think about hockey."

Time for the 'Team' to bring it home

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

LOWELL -- A month ago I wasn't a believer. I say that now because truthfully the team didn't believe in themselves, each other, and played as if they were 25 individuals, who went out of their way to make passes at the girls in the stands, rather than passes on the ice to their teammates.

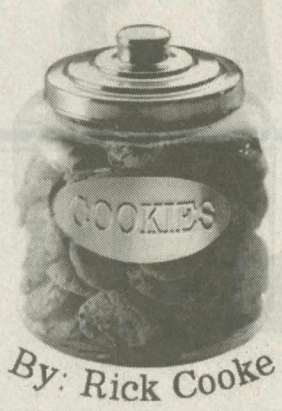

Monday night was different. The Wilmington High School Boys Hockey team finally played with that energy, with that firepower and passion that we have grown accustomed to with so many great teams from the past two decades. They played for each other, and not for themselves. They picked each other up -- especially junior defenseman Brian Pickett with goalie Drew Foley after Winthrop tied the game back up at 2-2. Moments like that didn't happen a month ago.

The beauty of Monday night's thrilling 4-2 win over Winthrop which gave the Wildcats their second Division 2 North sectional championship crown in four years, was there were so many heroes for the Wildcats, and not just Dalton Rolli who scored the game winner and Foley, who preserved yet another win with another classic performance inbetween the pipes. The heroes went on down the line, and truthfully a month ago, there were no heroes on this team, just individuals.

A month ago you saw wingers holding onto the puck way too long, defenseman turning the puck over, and a lack of true leadership to help correct those things. Monday night, you saw a different team, a different team that truthfully isn't one of the top talented or skilled teams Wilmington has ever had. There's been plenty of other teams who had more talented, who were much bigger and played much more physical, and that were much faster. Strength and speed sometimes is the difference between winning and losing

Plenty of fun in the Sun in Florida

By: Rick Cooke

NORTH LAUDERDALE FLA- It's just about time to get on a plane and get out of South Florida in the midst of Manning Mania. As unbelievable as it sounds, the Miami Dolphins' great hunt for that next great quarterback has almost shoved the Miami Heat to page two of the Sun Sentinel sports section. By the time you read this, I will be at home tucked safely in my bed, and the Dolphins will either have signed Manning or will be very much moving on to pursue Green Bay Packers' backup quarterback Matt Flynn.

Watching the local news stations follow Peyton to his South Beach condo last week was a hoot, but the reaction to a non-Manning signing will be nothing to laugh about.

The locals here have even reached out to that last great Dolphins' quarterback Dan Marino to see if he can have a little chat with Mr. Manning. We think that is not an option at the moment, because John Elway has a real job in the Denver Broncos front office, and he is more than just a Hall of Famer in pursuit of a future Hall of Famer. Tim Tebow, whom I admire for more important reasons than his ability to throw a football, just might have to wait his turn and learn behind Mr. Manning.

The sports fans in New England really don't care about all this, but I do, because unlike many 'snowbirds'- I turn tail and run from Boston sports when I come here, following Broward County high school football and most everything else that I can get with my trusty high-definition antennae. I abandon the prison that is cable television when I'm here, and that works just fine thank-you. I even got to watch Tom Brady and the Patriots lose another Super Bowl for free. Now that was a real hoot. I think that the New York Football Giants are content with another Mr. Manning and his ability to play quarterback. There is nothing to laugh about there either. I'm sure New England fans are pretty sick of this whole Manning last-second victory thing by now.

The Miami Marlins are ready to play some baseball in a stadium that is all-about South Florida. The aquarium behind home plate, the swimming pool behind the left-field wall, the sculpture that practically rotates, ricochets and explodes every time a Marlin hits a home-run. The fans here hope those explosions won't rank right up there with the fireworks surrounding new manager Ozzie Guillen and combustible players Hanley Ramirez and Carlos Zambrano.

The Red Sox fans aren't thought of highly down here, and there will plenty of them headed south when the Sox come to South Florida this summer. I will be here, battling the heat once again just like when I lived in these parts several years ago. I can't wait. I'm not kidding, although my significant other thinks that the South Florida summer is no laughing matter. I keep telling her that there is little or no humidity here and I hope that she believes it. This also is no laughing matter. I'm just hoping that my master plan works.

This Sunday, I was treated to some more 'free TV' and a game between two teams whose respective windows of opportunity have just about been slammed shut. The Lakers beat the Celtics, and Kobe laughed in Kevin Garnett's face. Oh, how the mighty have fallen. This wasn't funny either, just insignificant given the fact that the Miami Heat look like a team on one of those missions. The only thing getting in their way might be a last-second silly tweet by Lebron James. In that respect, I am very old-Florida and non-social media savvy. No self-respecting Miami Heat fan will be laughing if their team falls short of that championship goal again. Like him of not, Pat Riley knows something about putting together a winning basketball organization. The guy with the slick hair and $1000 suits will be scowling in the stands should the Heat fall short again, and somewhere Arnold Auerbach will be falling down laughing.

I'm not a big fan of surveys in fact, sometimes I read them and laugh out loud. These numbers can't be real I say, and everything about the results can be downright silly. However, there were a couple of surveys that recently caused me to sit upright and take notice. Did you know that there are 469 girls' high school football programs in the United States? Back in 2007-08, there were only 284. Is this a trend that will be interesting to follow? And to think no one thought that high school girls could play legitimate ice hockey years ago. They were dead wrong, and anyone laughing at the notion of girls playing tackle football should stop laughing and take these players very seriously.

There was the somewhat obvious survey taken by a group that goes by the name of Harris Interactive. Professional football is the favorite sport of 36 percent of Americans. Thirteen percent like baseball, 13 percent college football and eight percent like to watch auto racing. Basketball and hockey dropped off this survey's radar, and it seems like college basketball might be doing itself more harm than good with players leaving after just one year of school. There is nothing funny about any of this either.

By this point, you all might be asking do I ever laugh and have a good time in South Florida? You betcha! That is my best form of Sarah Palin flattery. I laugh a lot when I head to the beach and look at my funny-looking beard in the rearview mirror. I laugh when I listen to 'Big Dog' Joe Rose on WQAM in the morning. I smile a lot when I realize that the wonderful people at XL Physical Therapy and Sports Rehab were responsible for helping me to get a very bad back very better. Thanks Maria. I laugh when I chase my Yorkshire terrier puppy endlessly around the living room. Thanks Winnie.

I laugh when I remember the many good times with my mom, who passed away this winter while I was away. She really made me laugh. We smiled a lot when were together. Thanks Shirley. My mother was the best. She made me laugh.

Magical season comes to an end for Wildcats

HAVERHILL -- Whether he's coaching from the bench and then afterwards when he handles questions from reporters, Jay Keane is very straight forward and all business. But when he was asked to reflect on his season after last Wednesday's Division 3 North Sectional Semi-Final loss to defending state champions from Arlington Catholic, he had that glazed look in his eyes and paused a bit.

"I just told the girls that I wouldn't change one minute of this season," he said after the 57-34 defeat held at Whittier Tech High School in Haverhill last Wednesday night. "From the first day of practice right through tonight, I wouldn't change a single thing. I wouldn't trade one kid in that room for anything. This was the best year of coaching since I've been here in terms of teamwork, kids that actually like each other, kids who work extremely hard everyday and I'm proud of them. We gave up that one run (in the first half tonight) but we hung around, made some shots late but it was a little bit too late.

"I wanted to get all of my seniors (off the floor to get an ovation) and I thought they deserved that. I'm just proud of my kids. They won the Middlesex League (small school championship) in the first year in the league and we had a great season."

The loss ended the season for the No. 3 seed Wildcats with a 18-5 overall record, which included winning the first Middlesex League Small School title. Arlington Catholic, the No. 2 seed, advanced to the sectional final and was defeated by the No. 1 seed Reading Rockets, 49-46, and ended their season with a 21-4 overall record.

The first five minutes of Wednesday's game was tight, as Michelle Woods scored six of the team's first eight points and after she drained two free throws to cut it 10-8, the Cougars finished the first quarter on a 7-3 run closing it out with a 17-11 lead. Wilmington climbed right back into it to start the second quarter as sharp shooter Emily Crannell drained a three-pointer followed up by a drive from sophomore Carli Brent, and the 'Cats trailed by a point. But then AC got its groove back going on an 13-0 run, to go up 30-16 before closing the half out ahead 35-20.

"We went to a zone (defense) thinking we could help with our rebounding because they were crashing the boards on the weak side, (and when you do that) you give up the three (pointer) so it's kind of pick your poison as they say," said Keane. "Man-to-man they were beating us off the dribble and realistically they are playing with five guards out there so it was really hard for us to match up. They ended up making that one run, which was enough for them to pull away. Our shots weren't falling early and they play great defense. They run and jump the ball very well - when they do that run and jump, they all rotate to the open areas.

"They are tough to beat, they are very well coached and that's why they were state champs last year and they are 21-3 now. That's a very good basketball team over there and a very good coach (in Dave Brady)."

It took just over six minutes in the third quarter before Wilmington could score a field goal and by that time, AC had a 44-22 lead. Wilmington went on to hit three treys, before AC closed out the game on a 7-0 run to seal the 57-34 victory.

Junior Alex Derian came off the bench and led the Wildcats in scoring with eight points, while Crannell finished with seven and Woods with her six. Woods added six rebounds and Jen Stewart had five. Crannell, Woods as well as Meaghan Stinson, Sarah Luz and Cristina Wilson are the five seniors on the team who played in their final game, and who all received a strong ovation when they came out of the game with a few minutes remaining.

"Emily was the league MVP and Jen was a league all-star, and Christina, Sarah and Meaghan are just great seniors," said Keane. "They are all real good leaders, they worked hard for me everyday no matter what role or whatever position I had for them and they are going to be missed. They have been part of the program for four years ad have been a big part of our success."

While the program will lose the five seniors, the team will return three starters next year with Woods and Christa and Carli Brent, while Derian played significant minutes and will be looked upon for a much bigger role as a senior. Rachael Mara also logged quite a bit of time on the floor, while, Cailin O'Flaherty, Lauren McKenna and Megan Priem, all juniors, will return as well.

Division 4 North Sectional Final

Rams end marvelous run

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

BOSTON - When the players and coaches of the Shawsheen Tech Girls Basketball team look back on this season in the coming months and years, it will be with tremendous pride and a plethora of great memories.

And the memories came so close to being all that much sweeter for this talented and hard working group of players last Friday night in the finals of the Division 4 Sectional Tournament as for three quarters they went toe to toe with a more talented team from Fenway High School of Boston before finally succumbing in the fourth quarter, dropping a 49-34 decision to the Panthers at Emmanuel College, ending their dream season one win short of a coveted spot in the state championship game at the TD Garden.

The No. 1 seed Lady Rams, despite seemingly not having the size nor the speed to keep up with their foes, were undeterred by those disadvantages as they battled the No. 3 seed Panthers for three quarters, trailing just 23-19 at the half and 29-26 at the end of three quarters before Fenway's unrelenting pressure defense and superior athleticism took over the game in the fourth quarter resulting in the lopsided loss.

Shawsheen, who won the CAC Large School championship, finished their season with an overall record of 20-3, while Fenway improved to 19-3 and advanced to the state championship game where on Tuesday they beat Greater New Bedford 59-48 to take home the state title.

"They were better than they were when we scouted them," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said of Fenway. "This is the best I have seen them play. They made it very difficult for us to score."

Indeed the Panthers did make it very difficult for the Lady Rams to score, forcing numerous turnovers with their stifling defense, or blocking several Shawsheen shots when the Lady Rams tried to take the ball to the basket.

"It just wasn't meant to be," Shawsheen coach Dick Barriss said. "A lot of the things were able to do against other teams we simply could not do against them. They were just too darn fast."

Shawsheen was led by junior forward Stephanie Champoux of Tewksbury, who had 16 points and five rebounds, while junior guard Ari Medeiros of Tewksbury chipped in with six points

Wilmington Little League and Youth Soccer announcements

As part of an initiative to create a more competitive and positive experience for the town's 13-through-16-year-old baseball players, Wilmington Little League is announcing an exciting new joint venture with North Reading Little League.

The towns will form two leagues—one for ages 13-14 (Junior League) and another for ages 15-16 (Senior League)—that play an interlocking schedule, culminating in a "City Series" championship.

This agreement, along with several other changes we're making will strengthen the quality of baseball available to players once they move past Majors. One of the keys is grouping players of similar age and ability together, plus, we're adding a competitive dynamic that didn't exist previously. We expect it to significantly raise the level of play.

We expect there to be a lot of interest among the kids to play. Some will benefit because it will offer them additional playing time at a high level to develop their skills. This is especially true for those who want to continue playing through high school, but these leagues are also for those who simply have a love for the game.

The tentative schedule features a 14-16 game regular season commencing on Saturday, April 14, and ending on Sunday, June 3—with the Junior League breaking for the eighth-grade class trip to Washington, DC, before the start of playoffs. The towns would produce champions in their own leagues and then square off in "City Series" championship game at both levels. Wilmington's teams will be named after National League teams and North Reading teams will use American League nicknames.

Interested players who have yet to register are encouraged to get their names on our waiting list by visiting the registration page on our web site (www.wilmingtonlittleleague.org).

Magical run ends for Rams

and senior guard Jamie Mahoney came off the bench to contribute four points and four rebounds.

What hurt the Lady Rams more than anything was Fenway's ability to control the boards on both ends of the floor, creating numerous second chance scoring opportunities for themselves while denying Shawsheen any second chances of their own.

Also, their quickness caused major problems for Shawsheen, as on more than one occasion, they were caught from behind on fast break opportunities. Still, despite all that, the Rams were very much in this game, even taking the lead briefly early in the second half.

Fenway led 16-10 at the end of the first quarter, and when they extended their lead to 21-10 early in the second quarter, it looked like they might blow the game open, but Shawsheen fought back, scoring seven straight points to close within 21-17 after Champoux sank a free throw with 2:10 left in the half.

Shawsheen took their only lead of the game early in the third quarter when Medeiros hit a three pointer right out of the gate and Champoux followed with a bucket for a 24-23 lead at the 7:00 mark.

Shawsheen had a chance to further extend the lead, but a missed lay-up and a play where a Fenway defender caught a fast breaking Lady Ram from behind for a steal, kept the margin at one point and led to a 6-0 Fenway run that gave the Panthers a 29-24 lead.

Julie Russell brought Shawsheen within three at 29-26 with a bucket in the closing seconds of the quarter, but it looked like Shawsheen might have let an opportunity slip away and Barriss agreed.

"We had a couple of chances to extend the lead, but we missed those lay-ups and did not get it done," Barriss said. "I am not saying that made the difference, but you never know. Maybe that would have turned the tables."

Finally in the fourth quarter Fenway was able to pull away, going out to a 37-27 lead with 5:20 left in the game and never looking back from there with the largest lead coming at 48-32 with under two minutes left in the game.

Despite the loss, Barriss, who was making his first trip to the sectional finals as a head coach, was proud of all his team accomplished throughout the season.

"It was a phenomenal year for us," Barriss said. "I am really happy and proud of the girls. Even when they lost I was proud of them. I told them, we win with class and we lose with class and they certainly did that all year."

And while Barriss was proud of his entire team, he took special pride in what his seniors have accomplished over their four year career, starting with his daughter Kimberly, who has started for the Lady Rams for four seasons and was the CAC MVP last season.

Kimberly Barriss, along with Julie Russell, Kristin Ingala, Charlotte Ardini, Jamie Mahoney and Fran Pesantes were all part of some sensational teams at Shawsheen, capturing three CAC titles and earning an 87-21 overall record.

"You look at what they did and it is remarkable," Barriss said. "They have all had great careers her at Shawsheen and they will be missed for everything they brought to the program."

Wildcat Mite 2 White squad battles Beverly on the ice

The Wilmington Mite 2 White Wildcats lost a hard fought battle against a Beverly Mite 1 team on Saturday evening. Goalie Liam Crowley was peppered with shots by this strong Beverly team. Wilmington countered Beverly's attacks as forwards Patrick Callahan, Joey Pastore, Chase Perault, Ryan Dusablon and Joey Cornish did all they could to break the puck out of Wilmington's zone.

Defensemen Aydan Churchill, Michael Daniels, Cam Gagnon and Nate Packer gave it their all protecting the blue line and wrapping the puck around the boards as the Wildcats fought with all their might. Beverly scored with two minutes left in the period. Pastore and center James Fisher had shots on net, but to no avail. At the end of the period, Wildcats were down 1-0.

The Wildcats got stronger in the second period. Joey Cornish and Perault had shots on net. Fisher, with an assist by Dusablon, tied it up 5 minutes into the period. Beverly counterattacked to take the lead 30 seconds later. Crowley covered and deflected more attempts on goal. A little more than a minute left in the period, Beverly scored a short-handed goal. Twelve seconds later, Fisher put in a second goal for the Wildcats, ending the period 3-2.

The determination of the Wildcats shined though in the third period. Center, Keegan Gray, continued to wrap the puck around the boards and crashing the net. About five minutes into the period Beverly scored their second shorthanded goal. Two and a half minutes later, Beverly scored again. Fisher retaliated by snagging the puck and going the length of the ice to put in his hat trick goal with a minute and a half left in the period. Wilmington pulled the goalie and was burning off a penalty when Beverly was able to score again. Final score 6-3.

Sunday morning, the Wildcats were up bright and early for another battle with the Wizards. Half way through the first period, Wizards made the first goal of the game. Crowley reflected shot after shot. Cornish tied up the game with a nice lifted wrist shot. With 10 seconds left in the period Wizards fired one in over Crowley's head.

The Wildcats came back in the second period with fire in their eyes. Halfway through the period, Packer, assisted by Callahan and Gagnon, put in the tying goal. The Wizards proceeded to take the lead again with 3 and a half minutes left on the clock. The period ended 3-2.

Still not ready to give up without a fight, the Wildcats took to the ice for the third period. Two minutes in the period, the Wizards scored again. But, with determination, Cornish, assisted by Perault and Daniels, closed the gap by zinging the puck past the Wizards goalie. Twenty-five seconds later, the Wizards took the lead again.

Wilmington Coaches pulled the goalie with two minutes on the clock. Even with the empty net, the Wizards did not score, demonstrating the 'never give up' mentality of the Wilmington Mite 2 White team. With six men on the ice, the Wildcats kept it in the Wizards zone. Packer, assisted by Callahan and Pastore, scored with only 35 seconds left on the clock. A great goal, but the game ended 5-4.

Greene off to a blazing start

By DAN IGO
Sports Correspondent

Tewksbury's Ally Greene has taken little time getting acclimated to collegiate softball as the UMass Lowell freshman has helped lead the River Hawks to an 8-3 record to start the year.

The Tewksbury High graduate, an outfielder for UML, is batting a robust .385 through 10 games this season. She has 10 hits, two RBI and 7 runs in those 10 games, nine of which were starts. Last weekend, she batted 2-for-3 with two RBI as UMass Lowell defeated Millersville 8-0 on Saturday afternoon down in Clermont, Fla. She followed that game up with a 2-for-4 performance against Kutztown that same night.

The River Hawks are back in action Thursday in Clermont when they take on division rivals Stonehill College in a doubleheader.

Scott Oberg has settled into the role of closer for the University of Connecticut baseball team as the former Tewksbury High star has three saves for the Huskies this season.

The redshirt junior righthander closed the door for UConn on Sunday in its 6-3 win over Oregon State in Corvallis, Ore. He pitched one inning and had a strikeout in the victory. For the season, he has four strikeouts in 3.2 innings of work.

UConn boasts a record of 6-8 and will look to move closer to .500 when they take on the University of Alabama-Birmingham on Thursday in Conway, S.C.

Wilmington's Joseph Pendenza had two assists, including one on the game-winner, as the UMass Lowell men's hockey team defeated Providence College in game two of the Hockey East quarterfinals last week.

Pendenza assisted on the first second River Hawks goal, which was on the power play. The game eventually went into overtime, and Pendenza assisted on the game-winner at the 11:29 mark.

Unfortunately for the River Hawks, they fell in the third and deciding game against the Friars 1-0 on Sunday. It was first time in Hockey East history that a seventh-seed defeated a second-seed in the quarterfinals. UMass Lowell has an overall record of 23-12-1 this season and will await the announcement of the NCAA Tournament field to see if its season will continue.

Wilmington's Chelsie Babcock and the Bridgewater State softball team couldn't have asked for a better start to their season, as the Bears wrapped up their Florida swing with a perfect 10-0 record.

Babcock, a sophomore outfielder/pitcher, is batting .250 in the five games she has seen playing time in. She has started in three of them and also has a run and an RBI. She has made a relief appearance on the mound as well, going a scoreless third of an inning.

The Bears will look to remain undefeated when they take on Clark University this Friday.

Two Tewksbury natives have helped lead the Westfield State University softball team to a perfect 3-0 start to its 2012 campaign.

Lisa Policelli, a senior outfielder, had a hit and a run in both of the games she saw action in. She also had a RBI in Westfield State's 9-4 win over Manhattanville on Saturday afternoon.

Katie Moore, a sophomore second baseman, had a RBI single in the Owls' 4-0 win over Saint Joseph on Tuesday. Westfield State will look to remain perfect Thursday when the team takes on Macalester College of Minnesota in Clermont, Fla.

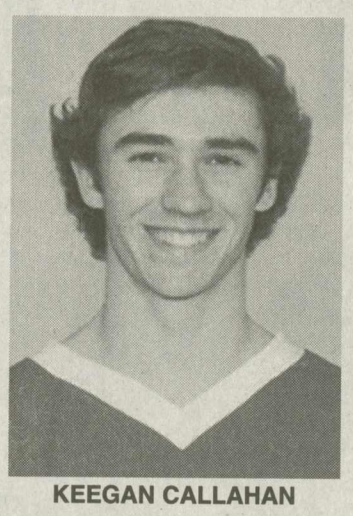

Mike Delponte went 2-for-4 with a RBI and a run to help lead the Bryant University baseball team to a 5-3 win over Radford down in Virginia last Saturday.

Delponte, a senior catcher, has eight hits in 12 games this year. Three of those hits are doubles and he also has five runs and seven RBI.

The Bulldogs will look to improve on its 4-8 record when they take on Mount St. Mary's on Friday in Emmitsburg, Md.

Tewksbury's Keegan Callahan scored the first goal of his collegiate career as the Clark University men's lacrosse team topped Anna Maria 9-2 on Monday.

The freshman attacker scored his team's last goal in the fourth quarter. Callahan, an Austin Prep graduate, has seen action in all three of his team's games this season.

KEEGAN CALLAHAN

Clark currently stands at 2-1 and will take on Skidmore on Saturday.

Jesse Fentross scored his second goal of the season and also added an assist to help lead the Salem State men's lacrosse team to a 7-2 victory over Nichols on Saturday afternoon.

Fentross, a junior midfielder from Tewksbury, scored his goal in the third period to put the Vikings ahead 3-0. It would be the eventual game-winner. The victory was the first for Salem State this season, as they improved to 1-3 overall. The Vikings will host Becker College on Wednesday.

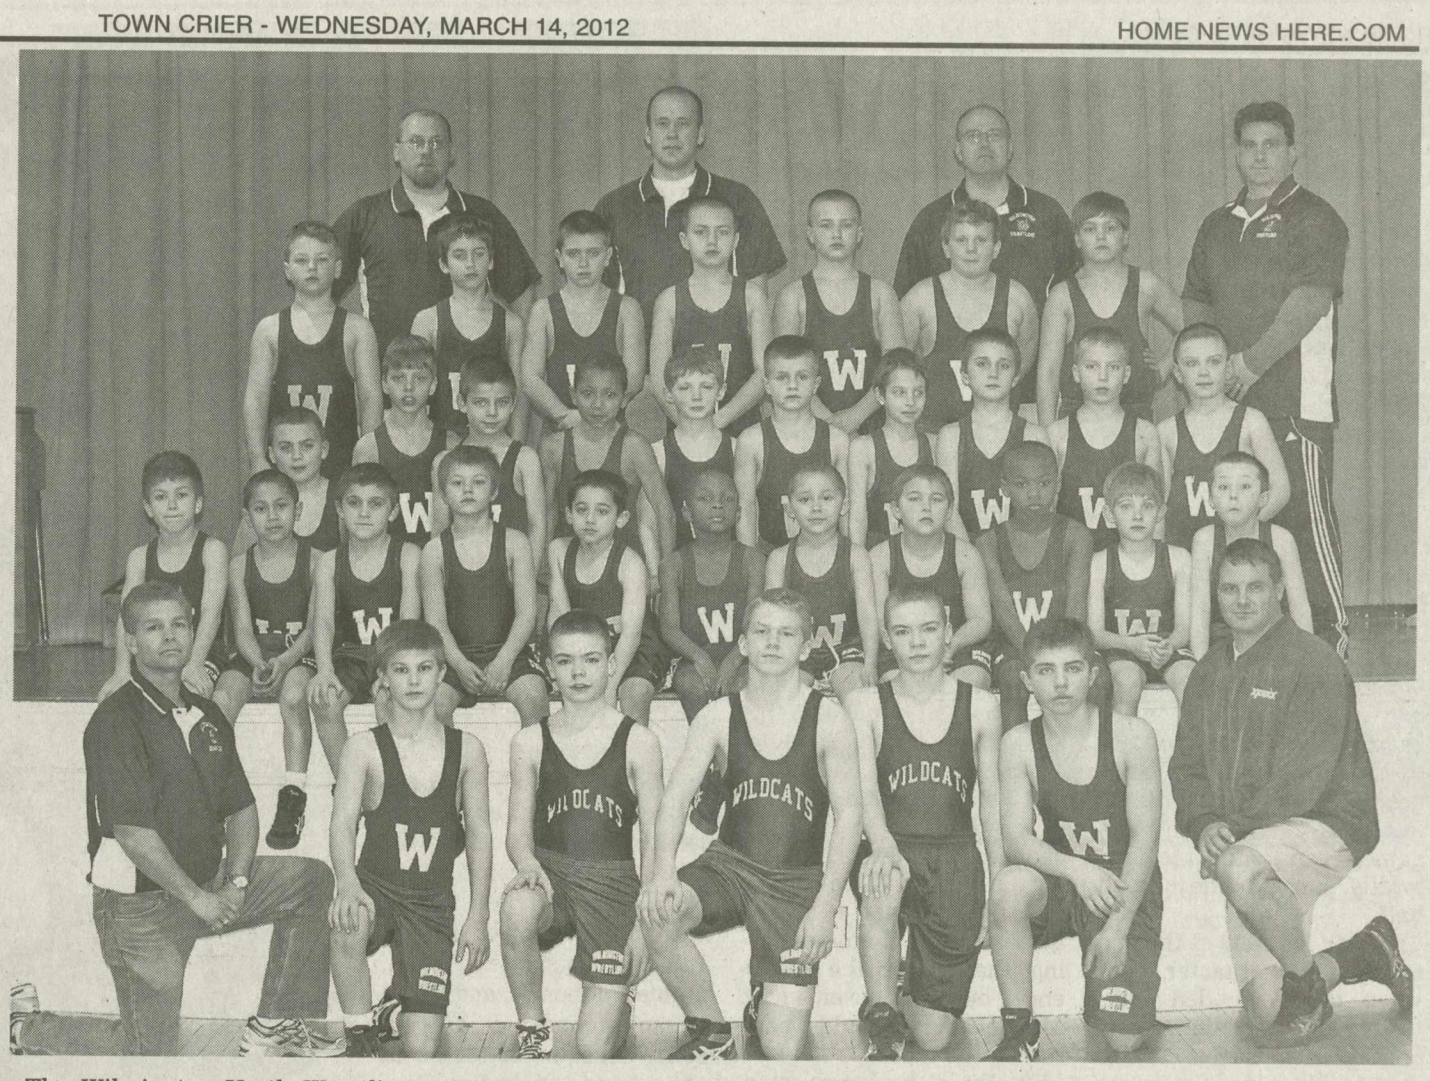

Corey Hamilton started and caused two turnovers for the Southern New Hampshire University men's lacrosse team in 9-7 loss to Molloy last Wednesday.

Hamilton, a senior defender from Tewksbury, also had three ground balls in the game. He has four on the season through two games. Fellow Tewksbury resident Ian DiRusso, a junior midfielder, is also on the team. Southern New Hampshire looks to earn its first win of the season this Saturday when they take on Franklin Pierce.

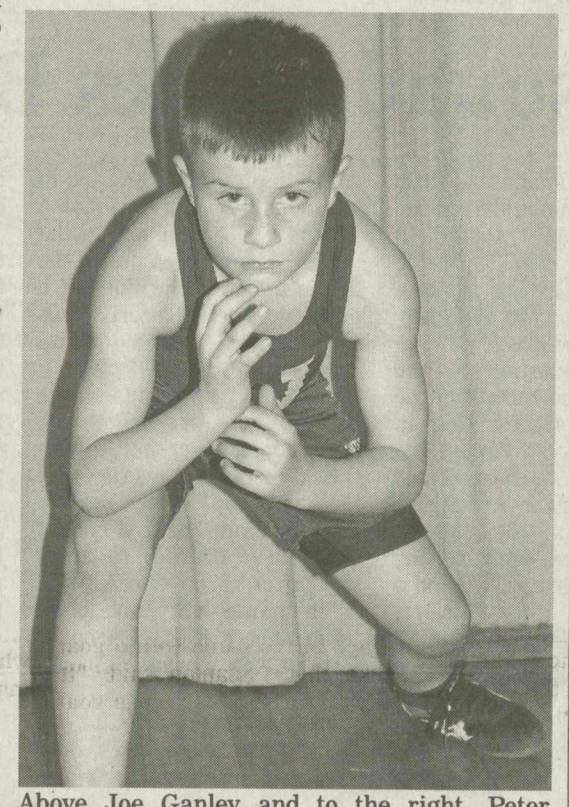

Over 30 Tewksbury residents competed in the "32nd Hynes Road Race" five-miler in Lowell on Sunday. Wildcats avoid sectional trap kid," said junior winger Jake Rogers, who had a goal and an assist.

Monday's game stood tied at 1-1 entering the third period, as both teams had played a fairly conservative strategy. But in the third period that all changed as Wilmington began to solve the trapping defense of Winthrop and forced a much more wide open style of play that paid great dividends when junior Jake Rogers scored 5:55 into the period to give the Wildcats their first lead of the game at 2-1.

Rogers took a great pass off the boards from junior defenseman Brian Pickett – after Rolli originally broke up a rush by Winthrop's Derek LeBlanc with an incredible back check – and raced up the left side before putting a great move on Winthrop goalie Steve Waites to beat him to the glove side. Rogers had been shaken up with a hit into the boards behind the Winthrop net just a couple of minutes earlier, but he showed no ill effects of the injury with his swift move to the net.

"I don't really know what happened except I went into the boards kind of weird," he said. "I hurt my head but only for a second. I really don't even know what happened. It hurt for a couple of seconds, and then it didn't hurt anymore so I just wanted to get back out there and play."

And he did. His second shift from the injury, he gave Wilmington the lead.

"I do that move all of the time," Rogers said with a laugh. "I just wait for five-hole. I don't even make a move, it's just instincts. I just assume that the goalie is always going to do that, because they have to slide across the crease, so I just wait to see the five hole open up and slide it through the legs. But in the first period on the first breakaway I tried it and no dice."

The goal set off a wild celebration among the Wildcats fans who had packed their side of Tsongas Arena, but their joy was short lived as Winthrop bounced right back with a goal of their own just 28 seconds later when Bobby Clewer snapped a rebound past Wilmington sophomore goalie Drew Foley (19 saves) to tie the game at 2-2.

Wilmington was undeterred by the tying goal, however, as they continued to carry the play over the next several minutes until Rolli's history making goal. Head coach Steve Scanlon said his team had worked very hard in the days leading up to the game on learning how to best counter Wilmington's great defense.

"In the tournament, we have been forgetting about the previous game. During the regular season you can go back and review the game, but here, the hell with them and it's just survive and moving on," Scanlon said. "We just tried to get as much information as we could on these guys, and we knew they were going to give us trouble with the trap. They play a real stingy defensive game and that's what we focused on all week was getting pucks to the net and breaking that trap."

Breaking up the Winthrop (15-7-2) trap is no easy feat, as the Vikings had outscored their opponents 11-0 heading into the title game. Wilmington struggled with it quite a bit as well, even after Luke Foley had scored to tie the game at 1-1 for the Wildcats at the 10:16 mark of the second period. But by the third period, they seemed to have solved it and they made the Vikings pay for their conservative style of play.

The game winner by Rolli would undoubtedly live in Wilmington lore forever even if it had bounced into the net off his knee, but Rolli was having none of that, as he scored a goal that would stand on its own for its beauty regardless of the circumstances.

Rolli took a great set up from junior Cam Owens who had forced a turnover in the Winthrop end and then put a brilliant move on Waites for the game winner. The goal was Rolli's first of the tournament after he had scored nine during the regular season.

"Dalton has struggled throughout the tournament to get a goal and then he gets one and it's a huge one, the game winner," Scanlon said. "It was a nice turnover and Cam (Owens) did a good job making the play and bang (we score)."

Moments before Rolli's goal, Drew Foley had made a great save to to keep the game tied and he came up big again in the moments after the goal, stoning LeBlanc, who had scored earlier in the game and had 24 goals on the season, allowing the Wildcats to hold onto their slim lead until McDonough sealed it with his empty netter.

Scanlon was pleased with not only Foley and Pickett's late game heroics, but also with the way his team battled throughout the game against such a strong opponent.

"We knew coming in they hadn't been scored on the whole tournament. But we kept battling. We kept plugging," Scanlon said. "That's the way the team's been all year, we bend but we don't break. Our goaltending was solid. Foley made a couple of big ones there right in the last minute, on LeBlanc who is quite the player."

Winthrop had taken a 1-0 lead at the 10:38 mark of the first period on a goal by LeBlanc and an assist by sophomore Dan Eruzione (yes, of those Eruzione's) and it looked for a while like the goal might be enough to stand up as the second period marched on, as Winthrop continually frustrated the Wildcats by creating turnovers and blocking shots.

But Luke Foley finally broke through for the Wildcats tipping in a Frank Cerbone shot from the point at 10:16 of the period. Sophomore Cody McGowan also assisted on the goal, sending a pass from the left hand boards to Cerbone at the point off the right post. That tally by Luke Foley broke a streak of over 160 minutes of tournament in which Winthrop had not been scored upon.

"It's good because you get your legs back underneath you a little bit when you get back in the game with a goal like that," Scanlon said. "It was a huge goal, a huge goal for sure."

Scanlon felt that both teams had to adjust to some new circumstances during this game that they had not faced throughout the rest of the tournament.

"They had not been scored upon, but then again we had been behind, so I was a little concerned about that," Scanlon said. "But we came back well."

'Cats to face Franklin

team that had not been scored upon throughout the entire tournament to advance to the program's first state championship game since 2008.

So call them the underdogs if you wish, but it is unlikely that Franklin, despite their gaudy 19-2-3 record and recognition as the top seed in the south sectional, is looking past the Wildcats. Franklin will not only be looking to capture the state title, but they will also be looking to erase bitter memories from last season's state title game when Wilmington's arch rival Tewksbury beat the Panthers 2-1 in overtime to capture the crown.

Wilmington coach Steve Scanlon for one, knows that Franklin will be ready to put last season in their rear view mirror with a win over his squad on Sunday.

"I know Franklin went to the final last year and got beat which I'm sure left a bad taste in their mouths," Scanlon said. "So for them to come back and reach the final again is quite an accomplishment. I'm sure they are coming in to win the thing."

But getting a win over this Wildcats team will be anything but easy for the Panthers, who will be looking for their first state championship since 1983.

The Wildcats, who will be looking for the first state championship in the program's history after suffering a 1-0 loss to Sandwich in 2008 and an 8-3 loss to Christopher Columbus High in 1984 -- while playing Franklin during the playoffs in both 1983 and 1984 losing the first time and winning the second – are playing their best hockey of the season behind some great goaltending from sophomore Drew Foley and some key offense especially from Cam Owens and Jake Rogers.

Senior Dalton Rolli got off the scoring schnide with his dramatic game winner against Winthrop, and if he keeps rolling, it looks as if the Wildcats will be clicking on all cylinders.'

Franklin of course is clicking as well, as they have been all season long. The Panthers, while on their way to capturing the Hockomock Rex Kelley league title, outscored opponents by a wide 120-36 margin on the season, while suffering their only two losses of the campaign to arch rival Canton. During the season, the Panthers defeated Newburyport in a non-league game, 3-1, where Wilmington topped the Clippers, 6-2 in the first round of the tournament two weeks ago.

The Panthers are led by the top scoring line of seniors Nick Bertoni (25 goals, 15 assists), Adam Hall (17 goals, 25 assists) and junior Cam Curley (24 goals, 8 assists), as well as senior Mark Teehan (14 goals, 20 assists) and coach Chris Spillane's squad will likely be the most talented offensive team the Wildcats have faced all season.

And while the Wildcats have gotten outstanding goaltending from Foley in both the regular season where he posted a 1.69 GAA, as well as the post season where he has taken his game to an even higher level, the Panthers have a very good sophomore goalie of their own in Mike Donadio who has posted a 1.64 GAA on the season.

And of course, Franklin, who defeated Plymouth South 5-1, Oliver Ames 4-1 and Mansfield 5-2 on their way to the title game, will also bring the experience of having played on the Garden ice last season into this year's contest.

"We'll be ready," Hall told the Metro West Daily News after the win over Mansfield. "Last year when you get out there and look up at the Garden rafters ... we were just in awe. This year's different. We're going there to play a hockey game. It's as simple as that."

Wilmington will bring their own experience into the game as well, as Scanlon has very vivid memories of taking the Wildcats to the title game at the Garden in 2008. A magical season came to a disappointing end that day and regardless of the opponent on Sunday, Scanlon knows that a few changes in his won locker room will have his team better prepared to compete.

"We're going to try not to look at the building so much, not to talk about how great the locker rooms are and listen to the radio and stuff like that," Scanlon joked, before turning more serious. "We need to focus on playing hockey. We'll show the kids that our rink is as big as that rink and we'll just try to go get them. We have almost a week to prepare so that's what we'll try to do. "

There is no doubt the Wildcats will be prepared come Sunday, and just as they have done all year they will undoubtedly give their maximum effort in their quest for the state championship game.

It is that effort and determination among not just the players, but throughout the Wilmington program that has made Scanlon most proud all year and he knows he can count on it again in the biggest game of the year.

"The kids are having a wonderful time," Scanlon said. "It's a credit to how hard the kids work, the time that the assistant coaches put in, the alumni players who come back and help you out, so it's kind of like the whole program's thing."

It's time for the 'Team' to bring home the title

But heart, believing in each other, getting timely goals, playing in all three zones for all 45 minutes and getting great goaltending are the reasons why Wilmington is playing for the state championship this Sunday, and teams like Newburyport, Lynnfield, North Andover and now Winthrop will be reading about the outcome in Monday's newspapers.

The reason why Jake Rogers scored the team's second goal of the Monday's game was all due to the backchecking of Dalton Rolli. The reason why Rolli scored the game winning goal was his linemate Cam Owens picking off a turnover in the neutral zone, turning the other direction and taking three defenders with him to the far side of the net, and pefecting a give-and-go with Rolli, who took the pass in the open space in the lane and found the back of the net.

The reason why Brendan McDonough was able to polish off the game with an empty net goal, was the work of all five guys in the defensive zone, being able to work the puck out despite the man down after Winthrop pulled its goalie.

The reason why Rogers, Rolli and McDonough were able to score was they had enough rest thanks to the team's third line, who after struggling mightily in the game against North Andover, played remarkably well Monday night. Trevor Foley played the best game of his career, while linemates Dylan DiNatale and Adam Siegel were just as equal to the task.

And the reason why the team scored its first goal was defenseman Frank Cerbone took the right approach from the blue line - throwing a wrist shot on net, which got deflected by Luke Foley and trickled past the goalie. Cerbone could have easily wound up and taken a slap shot, that floated into the stands – much like this writer did on many occasions during his brief and ugly high school hockey career at WHS – or taken a slap shot that was blocked, sending a Winthrop player the other way, where he could have scored a goal and completely changed the entire game around. But instead, Cerbone threw a soft shot at the net, it gets deflected, and Wilmington's chances of going to the Garden were completely changed at that point of the game.

Just 28 seconds after Rogers scored to help Wilmington go up 2-1, Winthrop scored, and that's when Pickett grabbed Foley off the ice, being the leader he is and helping the tenth grader regroup. That Foley did - the kid played tremendous down the stretch, shutting down Derek LeBlanc on several huge scoring chances, which helped lead to Rolli and McDonough's two goals in the final two minutes of the game.

And when that final buzzer went off, guys like Cody McGowan and Cam Collins gathered with the rest of the team in celebration in front of the Wilmington net, and the group of 22 players became just the third team in the history of the program to advance to the state championship game. That will happen this Sunday at 3:30 pm at the TD Garden against Franklin, the same team Tewksbury defeated in overtime of last year's state final to capture its state championship title.

Four years ago Wilmington played their hearts out, but didn't play its best game collectively as a team and were defeated in the state final, 1-0 by Sandwich. If this year's entire team can put away the extra stuff – the big 'B' symbol at center ice, the big locker rooms, the few thousand people in the stands, including their girlfriends and grandparents, and play hockey, as a team, like they did on Monday and during the last few weeks, than I'm a true believer that the town of Wilmington will see its first 'major sports' state championship title since the softball team did it in back-to-back years in 1993 and 1994.

Dalton Rolli comes up big again

Monday night, he has a chance to think about the final game he'll ever play in a Wildcat uniform and what better way to go out than a state champion.

"Finally (we're going to the Garden), what a relief, oh man," he said. "This is the best feeling in the world and I never thought I would feel anything like it. Adrenaline is going through me like you don't even know, like hot lava."

That hot lava seems to be spreading throughout the entire team as Wilmington has knocked off all four state tournament opponents in order to reach the state championship game. Rolli, for one is hoping the Wildcats make it a fifth team, Franklin on Sunday and that was possible by the tremendous third period the team put together on Monday as Rolli assisted on the team's second goal, scored the game winner, and then celebrated after Brendan McDonough nailed down the empty-netter with 1:08 remaining.

"The third period is the strongest period we have had all year no matter what game it's been," said Rolli. "You saw it again tonight. We are the best third period team around. I think we can beat any team in the third period, even those division one teams. Our first period is like a warm up for us, the second period we started to turn it up a bit, and then the third period we put it on as hard as we could."

The game was tied up at 1-1 after the second period before both teams started to generate a lot more scoring chances in the third period. Winthrop had a golden chance to take the lead as its best player, Derek LeBlanc came streaking into the Wildcats zone with a ton of speed but at the bottom of the left hand circle, he was broken up by Rolli, on an awesome backcheck. The puck flicked to the direction of Brian Pickett, who sent a long pass off the boards to Jake Rogers, who off the left hand wall, came streaking in alone to beat the goalie helping Wilmington take the 2-1 lead.

"(LeBlanc's) fast and he's a real good player," said Rolli. "I broke him up right in front of the net, and Pickett ended up picking it up and sending the pass off the boards to Rogers and he was gone. I knew it was in as soon as I saw that he was on the breakaway."

But Winthrop scored 28 seconds later to tie the game back up at 2-2. Then just over six minutes later, Rolli was back at it, this time getting the game winner.

"I was able to beat the kid and get around him, and then Cam (Owens) bounced off a check and took the puck to the net and gave me a nice pass like has has done all year," said Rolli. "Cam has been doing that ever since we have played together since I think fourth grade. Everytime we play together, it's always pass, shoot and score."

For Rolli and of course the team, the goal couldn't have come at a better time.

"Dalton has struggled throughout the tournament to get a goal and then he gets one and it's a huge one, the game winner," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "It was a nice turnover and Cam (Owens) did a good job making the play and bang (we score)."

Wilmington added another goal a minute later, and the celebration begun. Rolli and the rest of the team captured the Sectional Championship title and now have their eyes set on one more trophy - the state championship.

"We just have to take it to them in the third period like we did we always have but we have to come out flying," said Rolli. "Hopefully we can bring it home this year. That would be great."

Many golf courses open as weather heats up

By RYAN LAROCHE

For many people in Massachusetts, the idea of playing golf in March is just a fantasy. The weather is too cold, there's too much snow on the ground, it's too windy, etc. However, this year has been much different.

The golf season for professionals started a few months ago. Of course, those tournaments have taken place in Hawaii, Southern California, Florida, and overseas in places like Dubai. No pros are playing golf in this region.

This year, though, the idea of March golf isn't solely restricted to watching it on TV. Residents of communities like Woburn, Stoneham, Tewksbury, Lynnfield, and North Reading, to name a few, can actually get out and play nine holes. While most golf courses do open in March, weather tends to prevent people from stepping onto the course.

According to club President Joe McCarthy, Thomson Country Club, located at 20 Elm St. in North Reading, is set to open on Thursday.

McCarthey said, "The weather is in our favor and since we haven't seen any rain, it is relatively dry."

He continued, "People will be walking on Thursday and we will probably have carts out by Friday or Saturday."

At Hillview Golf Course in North Reading, for example, the tarp just came off Monday and the course is scheduled to open on Thursday. The driving range is currently open.

Usually, the golf course opens around March 15. The difference this year is that this weekend, instead of scheduling golfers on a first come, first serve basis, Hillview will be taking reservations. With weather forecasted to be in the 60s and sunny, residents better plan ahead if they want to take advantage of the Hillview Golf Course.

The course is located at 149 North St. in North Reading.

For those looking to get out for opening day, Hillview expects moderate business on Thursday and Friday, so no reservations will be needed.

The reason most golf courses in this area aren't open year round is that without a chance to rest, the greens and fairways become broken down. Divets wouldn't grow back and greens wouldn't heal until May or June.

The grass is very fragile, which is why it's watered so much, especially during the hot and humid summer months.

One golf course that doesn't necessarily close during the winter is Mt. Hood in Melrose. Built in the 1930s, Mt. Hood only closed in January and re-opened last Saturday.

With a little snow on Saturday, it wasn't the ideal opening conditions. But Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were all beautiful, sunny days and the rest of the week looks about the same. So far business has been moderate.

While some golf courses close in December regardless of the weather, Mt. Hood will stay open as long as the weather holds up. Thanks to a mild winter, the greens and fairways are said to be in very good condition.

Thanks to the unpredictable New England weather, it's tough for some golf courses to know when to close and when to re-open. Another course that just re-opened is Unicorn in Stoneham.

Located on 460 William St., Unicorn officially opened its doors last Thursday, March 8. They do not have a set opening date; in fact, the golf course wanted to open March 2, but due to snowfall had to push the opening back almost a week.

Two years ago, they were able to open fairly early on March 6. They've found, though, there's not a lot of demand for tee times this soon, as most people don't expect the weather to hold up. They expect temperatures in the 40s.

Unicorn, like Hillview, closes just before Christmas. The course is said to be in great shape.

Even though the demand this year for winter golf seems to be high, many courses still prefer to keep the greens covered as long as possible. Greens are very important, as golfers who can't putt can't play.

While some golf courses are ready for action, some are still waiting. Sagamore, at 1287 Main St. in Lynnfield, has a message up on its website that it's currently closed. They are waiting for the "grass to firm up and return to its regular playing conditions."

The website, www.sagamoregolf.com/spring_intro <http://www.sagamoregolf.com/spring_intro> , says they have targeted the middle to end of this week for an opening, but no exact date has been picked. They encourage golfers to call

"JOHN CARTER" AN ACTION ADVENTURE

"JOHN CARTER" STARS TAYLOR KITSCH as a war-weary, former military captain who is inexplicably transported to Mars where he becomes reluctantly embroiled in a conflict of epic proportions amongst the inhabitants of the planet. The movie is a sweeping adventure that you will enjoy.

"JOHN CARTER"
GRADE: ***

From filmmaker Andrew Stanton comes John Carter, a sweeping action-adventure set on the mysterious and exotic planet of Barsoom (the locals name for their home planet, a place we Earthlings call Mars).

John Carter is based on a classic novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs, whose highly imaginative adventures served as inspiration for many filmmakers, both past and present.

The film tells the story of war-weary, former military captain John Carter (Taylor Kitsch), who is inexplicably transported to Mars where he becomes reluctantly embroiled in a conflict of epic proportions amongst the inhabitants of the planet, including Tars Tarkas (Willem Dafoe) and the captivating Princess Dejah Thoris (Lynn Collins). In a world on the brink of collapse, Carter rediscovers his humanity when he realizes that the survival of Barsoom and its people rests in his hands.

It's been 100 years since Burroughs' "Princess of Mars" was first serialized in a pulp-fiction magazine.

Released six years later in book form, it was the first in what would become a series of pioneering science-fiction novels about Carter, and almost since "Princess of Mars" was first released in print, filmmakers have been trying to figure out how to translate Burroughs' fantastical world into a movie.

Six years ago, it ended up in the hands of Andrew Stanton, whose writing and directing work at Pixar includes "Toy Story," "Finding Nemo" and "WALL-E." And now, Burroughs' work - called "John Carter" - finally emerges on the big screen, loaded with dazzling special effects and in 3-D.

Burroughs' saga was so influential in the sci-fi genre that it inspired several generations of writers, as well as filmmakers George Lucas and James Cameron.

Carter's story is told through a journal that ends up in the hands of a young writer. In the tale, Carter – who lost his family in the Civil War – is drawn to the West in search of gold. He discovers the gold, but he also stumbles into a cave that's a portal from Earth to Barsoom.

The world of Barsoom looks much like the Old West, until you notice the ruins dotting the landscape. The planet has been constantly at war for generations, and it's now come down to a final showdown between two races, the Heliumites and Zodangans. Watching from the sidelines: a nomadic warrior tribe called the Tharks

Enter Carter, who now has semi-superpowers because of the difference in the gravity of Barsoom and Earth. He gets captured by the Thark but eventually wins the trust of the tribe. He becomes enamored of Princess Dejah of Helium, who is about to be unwillingly wed to the leader of Zodangans, and ends up fighting by her side.

The film features a good cast. Taylor Kitsch - Tim Riggins in "Friday Night Lights" - as Carter is a very good hero. Lynn Collins is terrific as Princess Dejah. She and Kitsch have real chemistry, and you can see why Carter would want to stay on Barsoom to be with her.

"John Carter" isn't perfect, but you'll fel like you got your money's worth when the show is over.

"WANDERLUST"
GRADE: ***

This isn't a perfect comedy by any stretch, but it is a funny escape from the winter doldrums.

George (Paul Rudd) and Linda (Jennifer Aniston) are an overextended, stressed out Manhattan couple. After George is downsized out of his job, they find themselves with only one option: to move in with George's awful brother in Atlanta. On the way there, George and Linda stumble upon Elysium, an idyllic community populated by colorful characters who embrace a different way of looking at things - Money? It can't buy happiness. Careers? Who needs them? Clothes? Only if you want them. Is Elysium the fresh start George and Linda need?

Elysium Bed and Breakfast is led by the charismatic Seth (Justin Theroux) and they become enamored enough with their lifestyle to stay, even though that creates new problems in their marriage.

Rudd and Aniston are terrific together, very believable as a couple both in the romantic moments and when things start go sour in their relationship, an inevitability once they discover Elysium's free love policies and both are pursued by attractive potential mates.

As actors, they really bring out the better (not the best) in each other, which keeps the movie grounded despite some of the sillier stuff going on around them, and it never veers too far into the realm of zaniness because of this.

They are surrounded by a good cast, including the always-great Alan Alda in a role that doesn't take him too far out of his comfort zone. The same can't be said about Theroux's performance as Seth, which allows him to experiment with some of the film's more outlandish visual and physical humor.

Unlike their last film, "Role Models," the producers of 'Wanderlust' really take advantage of the R-rating, delving further into raunchy territory producer Judd Apatow has made possible with his earlier hits. Director David Wain proves to be a master of the montage, with sequences that take jokes to the highest possible laughs - again, Rudd and Aniston being game for anything is obvious from these sequences including one showing their initial drive down to Georgia.

"Wanderlust" is a hidden comedy gem that will appeal to fans of Rudd's earlier work as much as those who just enjoy good, raunchy laughs.

"THIS MEANS WAR"
GRADE: *

This so-called romantic comedy is anything but romantic and hardly funny at all. It's lone saving grace are some decent action sequences, but even those aren't enough to recommend it to viewers.

In a paragraph, the plot of 'This Means War' can be summed up like this: the world's deadliest CIA operatives are inseparable partners and best friends until they fall for the same woman. tions.

The script contains too many bickering romantic-comedy cliches to be remotely believable.

This Means War is saved by a fringe character, television personality Chelsea Handler, in her biggest film role to date.

LAND SWAPMEET, PLANET POWERPLAY, SOCCER FIELDS FOREVER

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

UNDERWAY IN TEWKSBURY

"The land exchange project for the Tewksbury Cemetery is underway, according to Doug Sears," notes the Tewskbury "Town Crier."

"'The mechanics are all set forth so a land swap can occur,' he said.

"Tewksbury Cemetery was running out of space for cemetery plots and anticipated being unable to bury citizens in town within two years. Originally, the exchange was supposed to take place around 2002, but it had been delayed.

"The state, until recently, was going to start the process over again, since the project had taken so long to get underway. It would have had to appraise the land, and the price for that was originally $35,000, too high for the town to consider.

"Now, though, the price is lower.

"'We've got the price down to $15,000 and change,' Sears said.

"A parcel near the North Street soccer fields will shift from the State of Massachusetts to Tewksbury, as will two patches of land. Another parcel near the soccer field will be sold to Massachusetts.

"This plan will give Tewksbury Cemetery the space to continue burying dead...

"'I'm pleased we're finally seeing some light at the end of the tunnel,' he said...."

LOSING WEIGHT IN NORTH READING

No, not the land of Oz, or any other kind of 'revolution.' In fact, another point of view.

"'Why Does North Reading Recycle?' Asked and answered: http://www.northreadingma.gov/Pages/NReadingMA_Sanitation/recyclehome?textPage=1

"It's not just about the planet – it's about money. Our town's money. North Reading pays for every pound of trash, but pays the same for recycling no matter how much the town recycles. The more you reduce, re-use, and recycle, the less North Reading is spending of your tax dollars to dispose of trash.

"That's right: recycling saves money.

"So, if you have been recycling, see what else you can put in the recycling bin. If you haven't been, now's a great time to start. Lose Weight, North Reading!"

North Reading recycling news abounds: North Reading now accepts plastic containers numbered 1 through 7 as well as clean pizza boxes for recycling...The campaign is targeting big savings for the town, by helping households reduce their trash through recycling...Recycling is weekly...Re-using is even better..."

SOCCER PUNCHLIST IN WINCHESTER

"Back in December, the Winchester Soccer Club made a pitch to turn a vacant brown field next to the river into new playing fields by 2013," notes the Winchester edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Since then, the club completed a purchase and sales agreement (P&S) for two lots on Cross Street, the Computer Fulfillment lot and the Marotta property (a former industrial site), which together include 8.7 acres.

"Now, the club continues to make significant progress on what they're calling Winchester Community Park (WCP), this according to President Charlie Stackhouse.

"He said they've completed or are in the process of completing five tasks: a traffic study, selecting a design firm, flagging the wetlands, environmental testing, and deciding on zoning and special permits...."

In the process of kicking off its formal fundraising campaign, the club has sent out mailings - and it hasn't asked the town for any funds so it seems as if this will be a privately funded project.

Said Acting DPW Manager Jay Gill said, "This is a great project to be proud of."

"About the Towns" covers recent events in the 10-town Middlesex East area. Because Middlesex East deadlines are early, please check the front sections of this paper or look on line for up-to-date information about your city or town.

We also welcome original material - please send it to Phyllis Nissen, "About the Towns," Middlesex East Supplement, Box 240, Reading, MA 01867 or to schooltowns@comcast.net.

Athletes & Activities

by Paul Feely

•MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

What was the first Super Bowl to be played indoors?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

•The No. 5/6 Boston University women's hockey team erased a 7-4 third-period deficit to force overtime, but Cornell scored with 10.1 seconds remaining in the third overtime to earn an 8-7 win on Saturday afternoon at Lynah Rink.

BU (23-14-1, 14-7-0 WHEA) scored the first three goals of the game to build a 3-0 lead in the first period. Cornell (30-4-0, 20-2-0 ECAC) scored the next four goals, including three to begin the second period. The Big Red took a 5-4 lead into the third period and added a pair of goals before the Terriers' remarkable rally began to force the two teams into nearly 60 more minutes of hockey.

This was the first time BU had played a triple overtime game and shattered the record for longest game in program history. The previous record had been set in the WHEA Championship last Sunday against Providence, when the Terriers won at the 2:15 mark of the second overtime.

The Cornell goal came thanks to a strong individual effort by Lauriane Rougeau, as she split the defense and sneaked a shot through SOPHOMORE KERRIN SPERRY'S (NORTH READING) pads . The goal sent Cornell to the Frozen Four next weekend in Duluth, Minn.

Sperry was spectacular between the pipes for the Terriers, as she made 58 saves over six periods of play. She finished regulation with 29 saves, including 14 in the third period. She was even better in the extra sessions and especially in the third overtime when she made 15 saves.

Sophomore Marie-Philip Poulin scored twice for the Terriers and added a pair of assists for a four-point afternoon. Freshman Kayla Tutino also tallied two goals and two assists. Senior captain Jenn Wakefield and junior forward Isabel Menard each had one goal and two assists while senior Tara Watchorn had three helpers. Senior Kasey Boucher (1g), junior Jill Cardella (1a) and sophomore Louise Warren (1a) also got on the score sheet.

•Senior pitcher Elyssa Boris (Gardner, Mass.) was named the Northeast-10 Conference Player of the Week Tuesday after she led the UMass Lowell softball team to a 4-1 clip at the Catawba Invitational Feb. 24-26 in Salisbury, N.C.

Boris batted .538 (7-13) with five RBI, five runs and two home runs in a 4-1 week. UMass Lowell scored victories over East Stroudsburg (14-2), Shippensburg (4-1), Goldey-Beacom (11-1) and Wayne (Mich.) State (7-2) and suffered a 10-2 loss to Lenoir-Rhyne.

FRESHMAN OF ALY GREENE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) was also named to the Honor Roll as she batted .333 with four runs, four hits (singles) and two walks. She highlighted the week with 1-2 effort (walk) in the loss to Lenoir-Rhyne; and a 2-4 showing with two runs and a stolen base in the win over Goldey-Beacom.

•Need some help with the trivia question? It's one of the following:

a)SB VI - Dallas vs. Miami

b)SB VIII - Miami vs. Minnesota

c)SB XII - Dallas vs. Denver

d)SB XV - Oakland vs. Philadelphia

•UMASS LOWELL SOPHOMORE JOSEPH PENDENZA (WILMINGTON, MASS.) was named the Athletic Republic Player of the Week by the Hockey East Association last week. Pendenza scored five points (2g, 3a) and a plus-3 rating in a weekend sweep of Providence College.

On Friday, Pendenza assisted on a pair of goals in the 5-1 win at Schneider Arena. He helped set up Michael Budd's (Burlington, Ont.) score just 2:07 into the game, then assisted on Derek Arnold's (Foxboro, Mass.) eventual game-winning power play goal at 9:00 into the first period.

Pendenza followed with an outstanding performance on Saturday in the Tsongas Center, scoring two goals and assisting on Matt Ferreira's (Brampton, Ont.) game-winner. His first tally came on a redirection of Terrence Wallin's (Yardley, Pa.) shot midway through the first period. Pendenza then scored the River Hawks' final goal of the night with a redirection of Arnold's shot on the power play at 14:08 into the third.

For the season, he has scored 27 points on 10 goals and 17 assists with a plus-18 rating. Pendenza has scored one game-winning goal and assists on six others.

The honor is Pendenza's first of the season, but marks UMass Lowell's 15th weekly or monthly award from Hockey East this year.

•Senior Angus MacDonald (Methuen, Mass.), JUNIOR EVAN WHITE (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) and sophomore Keith Lewis (Nashua, N.H.) were cited in three events each as the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA) announced its All-East region Team last week.

MacDonald, White and Lewis were among 12 UMass Lowell athletes to earn All-East Region status, which honored individual athletes whose results were among the top five places in the East Region this season. Additionally, those athletes part of a relay team which posted a top three result in the Region were also honored.

Eight of UMass Lowell's 12 athletes are gearing for the NCAA Division II Indoor Track & Field Championship Friday and Saturday at Minnesota State-Mankato's Myers Fieldhouse.

MacDonald earned All-East Region honors in the mile with a school-record time of 4:04.98; as well as the 5,000 meters (14:14.45) and the distance medley relay (9:50.08, also a school record), on which he runs the mile portion.

White earned the honors in the 200 meters (a school-record 21.05 seconds) and 400 meters (47.25 seconds) as well as the 4X400 meter relay, which broke a New England college record this season with a time of 3:09.39.

Lewis put forth a handful of stellar results this season, and earned All-Region status in the heptathlon (4,918 points), 60 meter hurdles (7.93 seconds) and the high jump (6 feet, 6.75 inches).

Dual winners included junior Craig Bennett (Milton, Mass.) in the 4X400 relay the 400 meters in 47.40; as well as sophomore David Brown (Chelmsford, Mass.), who was cited for the 800 meters (1:52.15) and the distance medley relay; and FRESHMAN RYAD BENCHEIKH (WOBURN, MASS.) also a DMR and 4X400 member.

Six athletes earned All-Region plaudits in single events, led by senior Jeff Veiga (Lowell, Mass.) in the 5,000 meters (14:15.97); sophomore Scott Boiko (Chelmsford, Mass.), who runs the 1,200 meters in the DMR; and FRESHMAN RICHARD KIRBY (TEWKSBURY, MASS.) in the heptathlon (4,260).

•ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: The answer is C (the Cowboys beat the Broncos in the Louisiana Superdome).

•DO YOU KNOW SOMEONE WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports. P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Golf

ahead.

Another course not open, Trull Brook at 170 River Road in northern Tewksbury, simply advertises that it's closed until spring.

Like Sagamore and Trull Brook, Woburn Country Club, located at 5 Country Club Road, is still closed. But unlike those other two, Woburn has a firm opening date, which is Thursday. That date is a good month earlier than the club usually opens. According to manager Paul McLaughlin, Woburn Country Club tends to open in mid-April.

Due to the heavy amounts of snow, McLaughlin said last year was a bad year. Fortunately, the great weather has put the course in great shape. He said he talked to the superintendent who after taking the cover off the greens said he saw fuzz and remarked that the greens are growing.

McLaughlin didn't do anything different this year to open earlier. He just hopes the extra month of tee times will result in more people showing up.

He didn't know if the country club would do big business when it opens on Thursday, but "getting it in the paper will let people know we're open."

Some golf course managers could not be reached for comment, such as Tewksbury Country Club at 1880 Main St. However, the website lists the course, which opened in 1998, as being open (weather permitting).

Pine Meadow's website says the course, located in Lexington at 255 Cedar St., is scheduled to open this Thursday.

Green Meadow, located in Hudson, NH and founded in 1959, is the home course for many Burlington residents (along with some Woburn residents) as it sits about 10 minutes off Rt. 3. The website lists the course as being open from May through August with times fluctuating with the changing of daylight hours in the spring and fall.

Clearly, this warm weather has caused some golf courses to open up earlier than usual, especially in Woburn. With many courses either open (Unicorn, Mt. Mood) or opening this week (Woburn, Hillview and potentially Sagamore), it's a great time to be a golfer or take those first swings.

Economical Elwood loaded with charm

By Associated Designs

The Elwood's nostalgic railed and covered porch extends a warm welcome, and Craftsman-style double-hung windows add to the appeal. An old-fashioned porch swing would fit in nicely here. This small three-bedroom, two-bath home is well suited to the needs of singles, young families, and empty nesters interested in reducing their maintenance chores.

Entering, you step into a surprisingly spacious room where the living and dining areas flow together and link to a partially open kitchen at the rear. Windows fill most of the front wall, and a set of wide sliders brighten the dining space while providing patio access.

Standing at the kitchen range, you can be fully engaged in conversations or activities in the large, open living area in front of you. And the long eating bar that rims the counter comes in handy for eating casual meals and snacks, supervising homework, and keeping people out from underfoot while they chat with kitchen workers.

Counters and cabinets wrap around three sides, and two corner windows brighten the kitchen sink. These windows provide plenty of natural light, and potted plants (even orchids or other tropical bloomers) thrive in this sunny spot. Utilities and a broom closet are nearby, about equally convenient to the kitchen and bedrooms.

Owners' suite amenities include a walk-in closet and a private bathroom with a large shower. Direct access to the garage is just down the hall.

Two more bedrooms are at the front of the Elwood. The front bedroom, or den, is slightly smaller than the other, but boasts a larger window with a view of the street. Light spills down into the shared bathroom through a large rectangular skylight.

Visit AssociatedDesigns.com for more information or to search our home plans. A review plan of the Elwood 30-293, including floor plans, elevations, section, and artist's conception, can be purchased for $25. Our home plan catalog, featuring more than 550 home plans, costs $15. Both are available online, by mail or phone. Add $5 s/h. Associated Designs, 1100 Jacobs Dr., Eugene, OR 97402, (800) 634-0123.

Middlesex East Real Estate

Sampler From S-8

room is enhanced with beautiful wainscoting and crown molding. Buyers will appreciate the granite and ceramic tile flooring in all of the baths as well as the hardwood flooring throughout first floor, the staircase and the second floor hall.

The second floor offers four bedrooms including a master bedroom suite with a walk-in closet and private bathroom. The extra large walk-up attic is already floored and would make a fantastic play room, gym or whatever suits your needs.

This home is vinyl sided, has two zone heat for natural gas and central air and offers a large two car garage.

For further information on this home call Karen Dame @ Century 21 Starwood at 978-502-3109 or email at Karen.dame@century21.com.

Francesca Driscoll joins FUDGE PROPERTIES!

In keeping with Fudge Properties' mission of being a cut above the rest in service and capabilities, we would like to welcome Francesca Driscoll as a full time agent.

Francesca and her husband, firefighter Paul Driscoll, reside in Wilmington and have two young children. Their daughter will be attending kindergarten at the Boutwell School and their son will be attending preschool in the fall of 2012. When Francesca is not spending quality time with her family, she is dedicated to making customer service a top priority.

Francesca has joined the MLS Property Information Network, which is the largest Multiple Listing Service in New England and covers approximately 90% of the State of Massachusetts, as well as areas of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island. Participation in the service will allow Francesca the benefit of sharing listings with approximately 27,500 real estate professionals throughout New England, as well as instant access to a database of more than 55,000 properties for sale.

Participation also means access to more than one million off-market listings, assessment tax roll, and deed transfers. Other significant benefits include listing updates every two hours to the national real estate site REALTOR.com®, real-time property matches to buyers and sellers, syndication to local and national websites and access to the Supra electronic lockbox system.

As your Realtor, you can be confident that Francesca will always put forth extra effort whether assisting you with the purchase of a new property, the sale of your present property, or providing local information to new residents and businesses.

With the resources of Fudge Properties and MLS Property Information Network at her disposal, Francesca can assist you in making your property ownership goals a reality. If you're looking for service that's second to none, Francesca Driscoll can help you with all your real estate needs.
